annual meeting of the stockholders of the Buick Oil Company was held at the offices in the Story building, and some important business was transacted. First and foremost was the report of the directors, which was read by the president, Mr. J. H. Smith. The report showed that the company had produced 1,000,000 barrels of oil during the year, and that the net income was $100,000. The directors recommended a dividend of 10 per cent. on the common stock, which would amount to $10 per share. This dividend is to be paid in three installments, the first being paid on March 20, the second on April 10, and the third on May 10. The company also reported that it had discovered a new oil field in the state of California, and that it was planning to develop it.

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—[The Editor of The Times.] I am free to confess, in common with many other citizens, that I do not understand the attitude of the City Council in taking toward the street car companies in the attempt to pass the model franchise ordinance as it is now framed.

To my mind Councilman Reed is an obstructionist to the improvement of our beautiful city with his 100 per cent. taxation and this so-called model (?) franchise. Instead of working for the betterment of Los Angeles he is striving to stifle one of the greatest assets this city has in building it up, and in retaining the reputation it now has of being the finest city in the world.

Where would Los Angeles be today if it was not for two of the finest street car systems in the country? They have become so only by the liberal treatment they have received from the city in the past, thus enabling them to be in a position to extend their lines and service into new territory, wherever the workman is able to own a little home and get to and from his work. It is the car service this city has that, to a large extent, is responsible for its trebling its population. It is this car service that brings the shoppers to the stores and the interurban people into town to spend their money.

As to the congestion on downtown streets the railroad companies are not much to blame as the City Council is. The people demand to be taken downtown and also home and they must be accommodated. Yet the railroad companies get no rights to use any other streets to route their cars on. When they are willing to build on other streets, San Pedro for instance, they are refused or tied up with so many strings that no business man would accept.

Look at the matter as to fares, rates, etc., the conditions of which are defined in the model franchise in a business way. Ask any business man what he would do if he had $100,000,000 invested in his business and had such a proposition as the model franchise made to him. I think he would fall dead.

If you tried to tell him that he must not make a profit of more than 4 per cent. on his investment and then give away 10 per cent. of that, if he had to do just as somebody else told him, if he could only run his business for twenty-one years and then must sell it at cost, and must furnish all the police, etc., with what they wanted free and if he must do good work, don't let it come in again through the City Council. Let the members meet the railroad companies half way work with them and not against them, and let them find

CHARLES MOYER.

ROOSEVELT'S A FLASH IN PAN.

HE INSPIRES NO ENTHUSIASM, SAYS BLACK.

Member of State Executive Committee Predicts that Taft Will Carry Forty-four Counties in the State, Including All Those Embracing the Large Cities.

George N. Black, member of the State Executive Committee of the Taft Republicans, returned yesterday morning after a two weeks' trip through Northern and Central California, and held a two hours' conference at Taft headquarters with Chairman Stanton and other local leaders.

"I attended the initial meeting of the Taft Republicans at the St. Francis Hotel Monday, March 4, where we elected Col. Charles Miffin Hammond state chairman and organized our forces for the May primaries," he said. "One hundred and forty men were present, representing every county in the State. It was the most enthusiastic and inspiring meeting of the kind I ever witnessed."

"The keynote of the whole campaign, so far as we are concerned in this State, was sounded again and again in this sentiment—that when California needed a friend at Washington, Taft was for California. Now, California is for Taft. It was his influence, tactfully wielded at the crucial moment, that gave us the great exposition. It was he who stood like a rock of Gibraltar between our citrus fruit industry and the hostile assaults of reckless free traders."

"California would brand herself before the whole country as unappealingly ungrateful if she failed at this time to reciprocate to Taft by an avalanche of votes the incalculable services he rendered this State in every crisis where our vital interests were involved."

"It isn't that Taft needs California. California needs Taft—not merely up to November next, but infinitely more so after November next."

"My observation of conditions throughout the State indicates that the overwhelming sentiment of the big majority of Republican voters will be registered for the President in May in a manner that will touch him to the deepest depths."

"I predict that Taft will carry forty-four counties in the State, including San Francisco, Los Angeles, Alameda, Fresno, Sacramento, Santa Clara and San Diego—that is to say, all of the counties where the big masses of voters are concentrated."

"Roosevelt has failed to stir any special enthusiasm among the people. A candidacy such as his must result necessarily in one of two things—either a conflagration or a flash in the pan. It has proven to be a flash in the pan."

"We have no quarrel with Roosevelt, nor with La Follette, nor with any other man who is great enough to be mentioned seriously as a candidate for President of the United States."

"We are not anti-anybody nor anti-anything. We are simply conducting a pro-Taft campaign, feeling serenely confident of success, because every reason exists why President Taft should receive the customary re-election, and no reason exists to the contrary."

"We have the voters with us and we will win, but we have to get them all registered, and registered as Republicans. There is no time to lose."

"The women of California are rallying to the support of the President in a way that will be an object lesson to the whole country, especially to those States where woman suffrage is a pending issue. I anticipate that in the Taft delegation which we expect to send to Chicago, will be quite a number of women delegates."

"It will be a splendid thing for the women, for California and for Taft."

In quest of information on the last resting places of deceased Pacific Coast notables, William J. He will remain three weeks, going through cemeteries, looking up data and talking with officials and "old-timers." Bok is writing a book to be called "Graves of Genius," which will contain facts on the burial places of more than 100 Americans of note. He has been engaged on the work for two years and does not expect to complete it for three years more. While here he will be joined by his aunt, Katharine van Herwerden of The Hague, who is touring America for the third time, though she is 73 years old.

T HROW THEM OUT.
 The police of Sacramento have received an appeal from High School boys for protection against school fellows who are members of a fraternity. Los Angeles long ago discovered the wisdom of the High School fraternity. Its exclusiveness is undemocratic and its pagan festivities are demoralizing to the time and application of the students. The only way to treat secret fraternities in the public schools is to stamp them out.

LATEST ABOUT BRYAN.
 It is rumored that William J. Bryan will soon abandon politics and journalism and become an evangelist preacher. Several journals in the State of "Show Me" are sharply criticizing the great Democratic leader for his apostasy. Some of them go so far as to say that too many souls are saved as it is, and that for Bryan to go back on his friend downstairs savors of ingratitude. That it also indicates unsoundness of mind, and if he persists in his purpose somebody ought to sue out a writ of de lunatico inquirendo and have him examined by a commission composed of Wilson, Harmon and Clark.

MORE THAN HE DESERVED.
 A man in Oregon recovered $3750 damages from a capitalist charged with alienating his wife's affections. Public sympathy is not generally very strong for the man who brings this sort of action. If he possesses his wife's affections nothing can alienate them, and if he does not possess them his grounds for suit are hollow enough. The psychology of the jury's action in such a case is that the twelve good men and true are cheerfully willing to inflict some sort of punishment upon the other man in the case on general principles. It is a public nuisance to occupy the time of the courts with people of that stripe.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE.
 Arizona is building a bridge at Tempe with convict labor. The bridge gang has a baseball team and the Governor of the State entertained the nine at dinner. One of them enthusiastically predicted their host's reelection. While we may judge by this that in sentiment Arizona convicts are Democrats, it would be going much too far, even in Arizona, to assume that all Democrats over there are convicts. The very close race which many of the Republican candidates made in the new State's first election suggests that two years may give Arizona plenty of time to recover its Republican poise.

SHAME ON THEM.
 Wealthy citizens of an Illinois town objected when the Sheriff forced them to help dig out a snow-bound train. They showed a mighty mean disposition for Americans. Human service is a tax that every man should be glad to pay. The presence of danger or discomfort has its call upon rich and poor alike. Emergencies include laborer and president, peasant and king. The railroad companies cannot control the elements. They can neither prevent it from snowing nor make preparations against its possible dilemmas. A man who would kick against lending a hand in that sort of situation has not the right sort of blood in his veins.

THE OTHER SIDE.
 Police Judge Chambers has advised local officers to arrest men as well as women in a crusade against the social evil. The problem is not new. Los Angeles faces it perhaps with less pain and less shame than many other cities half its size. An Eastern magazine recently began the publication of a series of articles on this question, basing its observations upon the white slave traffic in Chicago. A Los Angeles woman wrote to the editor asking him if he dared to consider the masculine contribution to the delinquency of these women and the author of the articles immediately accepted the challenge to treat the subject from that viewpoint. In her letter to the East this woman said that Los Angeles has not dared deal with the men who are to blame. We are glad that the advice of Judge Chambers answers her with the force of action.

O. G. KING OF BASHAN.
 It is related of O. G. King of Bashan (the Roosevelt of his day) that he lifted a millstone with which to crush an opponent who ventured to oppose his attempt to secure a third term. The Almighty, who had been pestered by the airs and assumptions of O. G. knocked the millstone from his grasp and it fell about his neck, from which he was unable to dislodge it. And there it remained during his lifetime. For some time he lodged in barns and took his meals in the back yard, for there was no door in all Bashan through which O. G. could walk with his millstone perched on his head.

Col. Roosevelt swiped from the Socialist mill the stone of popular reversal of Supreme Court decisions of constitutional questions, and with it tried to crush Republicans who had not lost faith in the wisdom and integrity of the fathers who framed the Constitution.

But the big rock slipped from his grasp. It hangs about his neck and there it will hang until he flops again into the ranks of stalwart Republicanism. Then it will be too late for him to secure an office, and with this stone neckpiece crushing him, the seabra hunter will totter to his home on the summit side of the garbage heap of politics.

By the way, has anybody around here seen Ophelia?

SOME QUESTIONS.
 It is argued that the city cannot afford to complete the purchase of the lot for the new City Hall at the junction of Spring and Main streets at the present time, and that the Councilmen do not wish to run the city into debt to build a new City Hall.

Why can the city afford to purchase the lot at the corner of Fifth and Hill and arrange for the purchase of the Normal Hill site, if further indebtedness is so dangerous? How much rent is the city paying annually for the Water Board, the School Board, the aqueduct administration, the City Attorney, the Civil Service Commission, the Public Administrator and various other commissions and officials outside of the present City Hall and annex?

Does not a sound business policy demand that the city shall provide an adequate and convenient building for the transaction of its administration affairs before it materially extends its obligations in any other direction?

Is not the most logical and convenient location for the City Hall the site selected in proximity to the new Courthouse, the Hall of Records and the postoffice? In what other section of the business portion of Los Angeles can the city acquire sufficient land at a reasonable price to create an adequate civic center?

These are a few of the questions the taxpayers are asking.

A POLITICAL DONATION PARTY.
 The insurgent movement in politics is a superficial movement, hysterical in origin, heterogeneous in quality, and without any attraction or cohesion among its partisans. It resembles the larder of a clergyman at an old-fashioned donation party. Some closeted guests bring not what the preacher wants but what is most convenient to them to contribute. Half-spoiled fresh meats, eggs over which a hen had hovered for a few days before they were taken from her and her maternal aspirations crushed, cider that is rapidly progressing into vinegar, and cake that time has hardened, are sometimes among the food contributions. Instead of flour, or salt meat, or butter, or sugar, or starch, or soap. The lady members of the congregation do better, although there is occasionally a tendency among some of them to give unto the clergyman's wife in November hats of spring vintage, and lace thimbles rather than woolen gowns.

The insurgent movement is a political donation party. There is bestowed upon it the discarded of caucuses, the outlaws of conventions, the disappointed, the disgruntled, the faddists and the cranks. Johnson of the ever-waiting starboard pedonem and the ever-ready prognostic jaw is there. Gompers, the anarchist, and Twitmore, the felon grafter, are there. Henry, who howls against the fathers and wields a hand from which the blood of Doctor Handy will never cease to drip, and Pinchot, who insists that the estates of our children, and the bank account of the Pocahontas Coal Company, will be unrighteously depleted unless the coal deposits of Alaska can be "conserved," are there. And, at the head of this motley crew, prances the colonel, who, of old, was the apostle of "standpatism," but who now denounces standpatters as "reactionaries."

"Roosevelt," says a writer in an Eastern periodical, "has shown insurgency to be a movement without creed, philosophy or programme, expressing nothing but uneasiness, inarticulate, uncritical by itself. It is a movement that must fall to pieces at the first real shock."

The advocates of the insurgent cult are gifted in the coining of deceptive phrases with which they seek to beguile the unthinking. They sound the he-wag, sing the Marseillaise and dance the Carmagnole up and down the land. They assert robustly that the issue is between the progressives and the standpatters, between the people and the wicked interests, between popular rights and special privilege, between oppressed labor and loathsome capitalism. Pinchot, before he flopped, declared that the contest was between Taft and reaction and La Follette and progress. He asserted that he was for humanity against property and that "insurgency was identified with the destiny of mankind."

Insurgency is not allied to destiny. It has degenerated into the merest scuffle for cake, and its principles are as incoherent and unassimilating jumble. La Follette is for the enforcement of the Sherman act. Roosevelt is for popular reversal of Supreme Court decisions on constitutional questions. La Follette favors amendment of constitution, but not their destruction. Intrigue, denouncing, announcing, and "a chatter of spite and pique and demagoguery," is the menu which insurgency offers to the public taste.

The initiative, the referendum, the recall, the direct primary and other Populist theories of government have been plastered upon our California Constitution and grafted into our laws. Many stalwart Republicans voted for these measures. Nobody now proposes to remove them from our organic law. But because they were adopted it does not in the least follow that those who favored them are entitled to make political pariahs of those who opposed them, or to exclude from participation in public affairs those who are indisposed to cry hosanna to their loud-voiced advocates.

wart principles, and its morbid moulting of platitudes and phrases, has no permanent place and no permanent place in the politics of the nation.

INTERNATIONAL DIVORCE.
 The Ames divorce case, which has been attracting so much attention in the British press, is likely to do much towards bringing about the much-to-be-desired international divorce conference.

In this case Mr. Hugo Ames is an Englishman of good family, who tired of his wife and went off to America with a Mrs. Flora Wilson. In England he could only have obtained a divorce had his wife committed adultery, so he takes up residence at Boise City, Idaho, and sues for a divorce on the grounds that his wife has an ungovernable temper. Mrs. Ames knew nothing about the proceedings and was still in England at the time, but a lady was found who was ready to give evidence for Mr. Ames—she had never known his wife at all—and the divorce was duly secured. He then married Mrs. Wilson here in Los Angeles, and with consummate effrontery, proceeded to make a tour of the United States lecturing on the divorce laws. And they published a book entitled "An Ethical and Biographical Survey of the Divorce Laws of England and America."

The first Mrs. Ames has now discovered that she is a divorced wife, and, as the couple have returned to England and taken a house on a twenty-one-year lease, proceedings for bigamy have been instituted. It transpires that Mr. Ames was formerly attaché to the British Embassy in Washington and his first wife is an American of distinguished family, so the case is attracting very wide attention.

A curious feature of the case is that Mr. Ames and his second wife have established a sect known as the Golden Key Society, which is a spiritualistic affair, by which spiritualism is utilized in some mysterious way for the purposes of divorce.

POSSIBILITIES.
 A rumored conference between President Ripley of the Santa Fe and John D. Spreckels of the San Diego and Arizona Railroad suggests the likelihood that the Santa Fe will absorb the new line between San Diego and Yuma by way of the Imperial Valley. Giving color to this possibility is the fact that the Santa Fe already owns the road from Los Angeles to San Diego and might wish to preclude immediate competition by building from Benson to Yuma and by buying the new line to San Diego, the Rock Island would at last find its own direct route to the Pacific Coast, giving California another trunk line. With all good will to the Santa Fe, almost anyone would rather see the consummation of the latter proposition. As far as eliminating competition is concerned, the increase of traffic with the completion of the Panama Canal will make such a monopoly impossible, even with the most friendly understanding between the Santa Fe and all other roads and its entirely fair treatment of all others.

THE FATAL THIRTEEN.
 England seems to be having an epidemic of superstition lately, and the fatal number, 13, looms large among her unseen terrors. When the opening of Parliament was set for February 13 there was a positive panic among the Irish Nationalists, who regarded it as deliberately spoiling the chances for the passing of the Home Rule bill. It was feverishly recalled that Mr. Gladstone's bills were both introduced on a thirteenth, and that Parnell himself was a

BURDETTE AT THE BAT.
 CXLVIII.
 Putting Out the Fire.

Once upon a time, so long ago as Easter-tide in 1890, I was awakened from slumber in a New England village by this characteristic salutation from the landlord of my inn, standing in the door of my room—

"Wal, I callate if you're thinkin' o' gettin' dressed before you go out, maybe you'd better gettin' up. There's a big fire in town and the hotel barn has just ketchet and I reckon 'twon't be more'n twenty minutes before the house ketches. It's past break-fast time, anyhow."

So I called 't I'd get up. There was no breakfast, because all the dishes had been carried away to a place of safety. But my interest in the conflagration swallowed up my hunger. It was a big fire, and the entire population was at work. The hand engine was throwing a stream as regular as any steamer could pump, so systematic were the relays of men to "shake up" the brakes. Bucket brigades were organized. Wagons were bringing water in barrels from the near-by stream. Patrols with hand grenades were watching for stray embers flying through the air. Salvage parties were carrying goods out of the stores and the residences. If that town had been made on clock-work pattern and wound up for a fire, fire fighting could not have been more perfectly organized nor more accurately carried on. The Boston fire brigade could not have improved upon the system.

And, every last man and woman in that town, I think, was bawling everybody else. There was enough talk, sustained, continuous, unintermitted, to smother a forest fire. Every man on the Torrent Number One was telling the man on either side of him how to pump most effectively with the least fatigue. A woman was shrieking instructions to a man where to carry the looking-glass with which he was running down street, while at the same time the man was telling her where to take the kitchen stove she was dragging up street. A mother was telling her boy to put down the dog and carry the cat, while the boy was ordering her to carry the four barrel 't other end up before all the contents ran out. Everybody was talking at the top of "his" lungs and working just as fast and as hard as he talked. Everybody "bawled." A man would run down street with his arms full of general household salvage, leaving behind him a trail of instructions that rattled along the thoroughfare like the echoes of last week's town meeting. Nobody was doing anything except right except the person who was telling about it, and that was everybody.

Did What They Purposed.
 And in a surprisingly short time they put out the fire in spite of the high wind which had given it such a start; they restored order on the streets, which were not so chaotic as they sounded. Goods were carried back into the stores, the owners of which, with New England thrift, had taken advantage of the temporary clearing of the shelves to give them such a cleansing as they hadn't had "sence granther Holwerthly stuck the store back in '93." The men gathered in groups to talk it over and the women ran home and had dinner ready right on the minute. There was nothing left but the blackened ruins and the ever-renewed fountains of talk to tell that there had been (pronounced) been a fire.

Many, many times since that day have I recalled that scene of unanimous disagreement and wrangling co-operation in one purpose with diverse plans. And as often have I wondered where I had seen the same thing at other times and other places. I couldn't fix it in my mind, but it haunted me. I had a profound conviction that somewhere else, and more than once, I had beheld that scene re-enacted on stages broader than the setting of that busy, "bossy" little Vermont town.

And one day it revealed itself to me. Sure! In a hundred communities had I seen all this. In a thousand. All the way 'round the world. Wherever three or more men and women united in the same work, whatever the purposeful task might be. The fire in that little town was merely a type of what is doing all the time in the great big wide world. It began at the tower of Babel, and it has been going on ever since.

In the world of politics; of sociology; of religion; of ethics; in every movement for the betterment of humanity, in every call for a higher, purer, nobler life. In every philanthropic activity, in every altruistic revival, in every good cause that brings together in one aim and purpose to make the world a better, sweeter, safer place in which to live. So soon as the alarm-bells call the hosts of righteousness to the work of saving and helping, the clatter and chatter and uproar of criticism, dissension and opposition arises in clouds of stormy volubility and the work goes on.

And just as the conflagration was subdued and order restored in the little town, so in all these years of wrangling differences order has been established in the world; the truth has been proclaimed; missions have been successful; life and property made safer generation after generation; religion has grown gentler; denominationalism a fainter; the world has grown better. We still "baw" each other. Still do we tell all other workers how to do it, even offering to pause in our own good way to show them how; still do we ridicule the other fellows' old-fashioned ways and scoff at their obsolete ideas, talking very loud so that he can not make us hear his counter criticisms and savage rejoinders. But the work goes on.

Getting the Fire Under.
 The world has been growing better right along, hasn't it? Was it half so good in your dear old grandfather's day as it is now? Was, hey? Then, man, your grandfather was an awful liar with a fearful grouch. I've got the files of a newspaper he used to edit. I know what he said about it.

I don't know the secret of all this progress, but I did observe one thing in the work of those Vermont fire fighters. Not one of them paid the least attention to anything anybody else said. Everybody was too busy putting out the fire and helping his neighbor.

And that was a lesson worth the burning of a third of a beautiful little town. West Randolph has long since got over the fire. It's bigger, and richer, and prettier, and wiser than ever before. And it played "schoolmarm" to the whole world. It taught us all how to put out a fire. Just work in your own best way so steadily that you can't hear the word the critics say. Keep sweet and keep movin'.

RITCHIE HAS EYES ON JOE.

Willie Would Meet Rivers as Lightweight.

McCarey Says, "Stick and Get a Rep."

Gilmore on Hand With New Challenge.

BY R. A. WYNNE.

Willie Ritchie of San Francisco, who, through his readiness to substitute for Paeky McFarland or Ad Wolgast in any and all circumstances, has earned the title of "Willing Ritchie," met Joe Rivers yesterday at Gilmore's and begged him for a fight.

Tom McCarey, Joe Levy and several newspaper men were in the group.

"Why, look at Rivers' chest!" said Ritchie as he pointed at the broad, deep breastplate of Rivers. "I bet you measure more than I do about the chest and shoulders."

"I take a No. 40 shirt," said Rivers, modestly, as he puffed out his chest obligingly.

"Help, help!" yelled Ritchie in mock alarm. "I take a No. 32 shirt. Why, you are not a near-lightweight or a lightweight. You have got shoulders and a chest like a middleweight."

Rivers modestly tried to draw his chest in narrow, but failed to make it look anything but bulging and powerful.

"Now," said Ritchie, turning to Uncle Tom McCarey, "you say I am too big for Rivers. Look at those shoulders and look at that chest. Then cast your eyes over my manly frame, and where do you see any middieweight shoulders and chest? I can make 133 ringside for Rivers and that should satisfy all of you."

UNCLE TOM KICKS IN.

This was all by way of winding up a suggestion that Ritchie, who made such a wonderful showing against Freddie Welsh, be given an early date with Rivers. Levy and Uncle Tom McCarey could not see it, as Ad Wolgast is the only particular bright star that is dazzling the eyes of Rivers, Levy, et al.

"However," said Uncle Tom as he fingered a pocketful of cash which came through the box-office window last Saturday. "I'll tell you what I will do. If Rivers fights any more, 133 pounds, and if I cannot get Wolgast, I will give you the first try at him at this weight."

"Say, Willie, how about Jack Brittain of San Francisco? He would make a good man for you, and I think that the lovers of the game in Los Angeles would like to see you two together."

"I don't think that I want to go on with Brittain," said Ritchie slowly. "Do you think that we would draw well with the people here?"

"The Los Angeles people like you, Willie, and Brittain has been talked of a great deal before his match with Freddie Welsh that fell through, so I think that you two would draw very well," said Uncle Tom, the light of business in his eye.

"Uncle Tom," said Ritchie, twisting his face up seriously. "Emil Thiry, my manager, has written to me not to let any of the Coast promoters sign me up for a date out here, as there is so much of the short four, six and ten-round business to be picked up in the East and Middle West. I want to do what he tells me and I don't care to sign up with anyone unless it is a good big affair, in which I can make a little reputation and some cash."

STICK AROUND.

"Look here," snapped Uncle Tom, glaring balefully at Ritchie. "You can make a better reputation and more money in one fight in Los Angeles than you can all summer fighting in the East. Ask Johnny Kilbane, and he will tell you that he earned more money and secured a wider reputation in one or two fights here than he did in half of his other battles put together. At tell you the country takes the verdict of Los Angeles in these matters and is guided by this verdict, and if you want a reputation you stay here and we will put you on with some good runs."

"I would like to get Rivers," said Ritchie, wistfully. "I think that I can lick him."

"Oh, ho," and again "Oh, ho," chortled Rivers as he overheard the remark. "The bigger these guys come, the harder they fall. Ritchie"

LADIES LINGER ON LINKS; SCORES DARK SECRET.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

THE qualifying round for the women's championship was played on the links of the Los Angeles Country Club yesterday, when Miss Katherine Harley of Redlands, ex-national champion and ex-Southern California champion, headed the list.

Miss Katherine Melius and Mrs. Kennett (formerly Miss Isabel Smith), last year's champion, tied for second place, the next in order of merit being Mrs. Frank Griffith, Mrs. Katherine Van Dyke, Mrs. Guy Cochrane and Mrs. J. V. Elliot. The next tier was composed of Mrs. H. G. Requa, Mrs. Perley of San Gabriel and Miss Marion Clark, also of San Gabriel.

The scores were—but that is just what I dare not tell you.

"I will give you a dozen golf balls if you will leave out my score," bribed one fair player as she took me gently aside.

"If you really admire my knitted tie, you can have it, and—oh, don't publish my score, will you?" whispered another anxiously.

"I won't ask you not to publish my score," darkly hinted another, "but if you do, I'll have such a hideous revenge that you'll never live to publish another."

And as I have to go down there again today—well, editor or no editor, I'll stand by my sex to the death.

After all those scores were really not any worse than many of the 10 and 12 handicap men have been hand-

BERT DELMAS GOES TO OAKS.

Traded for Flater, Pitcher, by Berry.

Comiskey Will Send Angels New Shortstop.

The Class C Valley League Is Cooking.

Bert Delmas has been traded by Henry Berry to Oakland. The Angels will get Flater, the right-handed pitcher in return. The deal was closed yesterday.

"Delmas was a 'hold-out,'" said Berry. "He didn't report at the appointed time this season. When Hogan and I went North the other day I stopped in Modesto and had a talk with Bert. He said that he had no hard feeling against any one down here, but said he had not reported because he thought he should have been offered more money this season. He said that it was customary to offer ball players a little more with the opening of a new season. I pointed out to him that we had been paying him $250, which is big money for this league."

"The Flater trade had been mentioned before, so I decided to go through with it. Delmas will be a big asset for Oakland, as most of the infielders are young players. Flater will strengthen our pitching staff. He is a big, strong right-hander."

"The loss of Delmas won't trouble us. Ivan Howard is as good a shortstop as there is in the league. I expect, however, to get a new shortstop from Comiskey in trade for Delmi, and will use Howard as a utility man. The bushier Blando might make good at shortstop, but I doubt if he can hit well enough."

Berry says that he and Hap Hogan started something on their recent trip to the North in connection with the formation of a class "C" league, with teams at Fresno, Stockton, Bakersfield, Marysville, San Jose and Oakland.

"The whole thing," said Berry, "depends upon our being able to lease the grounds at Stockton and Oakland on favorable terms. Our object in starting the league would be to have a farming place for our bushers. We might make it pay providing we could get Oakland in the league."

TIGERS CLAW COLLEGE BOYS.

CANDIDATES FOR THEIR NORTH SEEM NERVOUS.

Vernon in Mid-Season Pace from Start—Slab Men Good, but Need to Improve Considerably to Be in A1 Form for the First Games of the Season.

BY OWEN H. BIRD.

Hap Hogan's Tigers clawed the U.S.C. baseball aggregate all over the Washington street across yesterday afternoon in a six-inning spasm of the national pastime. It was Vernon all the way, and the Collegians never had a look in from the first going to the last toll, the final score reading Vernon, 9; U.S.C., 1.

There was no chance for the game to be close, as the college man had their booting tops on with the opening of the first inning and managed to kick the fast one every time. One of Hap's men got on the cushions in a place where he could score while the University infield was chasing the elusive sphere. Len Burrell had his U.S.C. warriors working for positions on the team for the northern trip against the University of California, and the poor showing was enough to do to the fact that all the men were a little nervous, and then they always lose their goats when against the Vernon regulars, and yesterday afternoon was no exception to the rule.

MOSTLY REGULARS.

Hap Hogan sent most of his regular men into the game with the Trojans. The new players on the squad seemed to have got rid of most of their "hinks" and "Charlie horses," and were caving over the sword with the agility of elves on a moonlight night. Bayless, who was strutting around in the left garden, got away with a nice single, one-run, and a stolen base out of three journeys to the rubber. He also nailed a fast one in the field. Johnny Kane played up to his usual form in center field, while Old Reliable Stinson was plugging along, as usual, in right.

In the infield, Patterson was gambling around first base, but seemed to be playing under wraps, probably due to a sore kink somewhere in the grand old man's anatomy. Roy Brashear played second with his usual seventeen-jewel regularity, and got by with five chances and not a single error. The difficult corner, third base, belonged to "Speed" McDonnell yesterday and the young Irishman got very much into the score sheet, trying up two runs, one hit, three stolen bases, and all out of three times as fast. Hogan worked two men at short, first sending Lusch out to grab the base cutters. He got a hit, a run and a stolen base out of two times at bat, but while sauntering around in the neighborhood of the score sheet, trying on the starboard side, failed to get a chance to make an error or a good play. Reams was sent to short during the last inning and a half, but only smothered a pop-fly while there, as the game was called before he had a chance to go to the bat. Sullivan and Agnew did hard stop duty in turn, each being credited with an error and also some flashes of form.

GOSSIP ALONG GASOLINE ROW

BY BERT SMITH

When the Whitewater cutoff, was held up during the rain, he then resumed in earnest now the his sales appear. The Whitewater is a raging, boiling, current, rushing down from the mountains. It would be suicide to attempt to cross. When that road is closed, about ten days from now, an automobile can be driven over a good road to Palm Springs.

Alhambra citizens were anxious to see the Ocean to Ocean Highway. They were also ready to go to a day's run toward the completion of the road. With a subscription of $100 from the Little City of Huntington starting them in the lead, it was a cinch to name the road from Alhambra, which was the first from the Huntington. Then before Southern California is thoroughly organized, at least $100 should be in the treasury of the association and will be available for building.

Boaters in San Diego anxious to see the highway into their city, have thousands of eager ones already building the national boulevard from San Diego, within one year, now it will be possible to take a trip across the continent at the foot of the year. Thousands of boats already are in sight for the undertaking and a chain of boats is to be formed from the Atlantic to the Pacific by the Times and its crew of hunters.

When the pavement along automobile road, clean, and with every thing missing the middle of the week, and with a large number of sales. When the drops were poured, the prospects glided into the road, and the highway was a continuous delivery. This is a week.

MAKE GOOD OR QUIT," IS ORDER AT TRAINING CAMP.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

At this stage the Santa Maria battery was reversed. Oakes going to the alab and Romero taking up the mask and pad. This closed the running of the clock for the Beavers. Ray Conroy put over the first tally in the eighth for the locals. Then, in the ninth, the Santa Maria lads filled up the bases on a couple of walks and a brace of hits. Then, with two out, Oakes on third and Winans in the lead, the hit and run signal was given. Oakes started with Keotner's arm and Cutter hit a clean drive into left field. Two tallies came over and the third man was thrown out by Chadbourne at the plate.

NORMAL SCHOOL GIRLS SHOW CLASS IN INDOOR.

The girls of the State Normal School held their first indoor baseball practice yesterday afternoon and displayed surprising ability along the lines of hit and run.

A large squad assembled in the gymnasium and after a few words of instruction by some of the pretty veterans of the game, a lively practice took place.

This is the first time that indoor ball has been attempted by the young women of the Normal, but from the showing made yesterday, they will have little difficulty in working up a well balanced team.

A number of the girls have played the game before, and these will help to round out a winning nine. Miss Annabelle Buchanan is a clever finger. "Perfect control," said one of the aspiring novice maidens. "She makes motions just like Jerry Abbott."

There is some doubt as to where the team will play. Some are anxious to use the gymnasium floor and stick close to rules of the indoor code; but others are of the opinion that more physical benefit may be derived from out of door play, which in reality is not indoor ball, but modified base ball.

The most promising members of the troupe squad are Nina McCuen, Lillian Leon, who played for two years on a High School team in New York city; Ruby West, Dorothy Morris, Mary Farnsworth, Beatrice Kerbin, Marjorie Creager, Winnie Kimbell and Bernice Rodier.

The next practice will be held Thursday.

TIGERS CLAW COLLEGE BOYS.

somed out in a Tiger uniform and pitched the first three innings of the game, allowing but one hit during that season. The old boy seemed to have plenty of "zip" on the ball, and while not working hard, seemed to have plenty of reserve force for so early in the season. Sir John Raleigh was next waited, out to the mound, and served up the slants for two innings, being touched up for one hit in the two spams. John was also there in regard to zip, at cetera. Harry Stewart pitched the last inning of the game, and was the same old Harry who put terror into the hearts of so many of the fans last season in the enemy's country.

In regard to the "Rah Rahs," there were three of these young men who had an off day yesterday, in the persons of Ted Wright at short, Nap O'Connor, catcher, and Walter Bridwell, pitcher. Ted booted three chances during the game, which cost his side several of the runs chalked up against it. O'Connor fumbled into the limelight with a bad pass, while Bridwell was touched up for eight hits in four innings. Although, this was his first time out for the season, he shows signs of rounding into first-class college form for the northern trip. Black finished up the game for the Trojans and blanked Hap's valiant knights for the remainder of the game. All Black needs, apparently, at the present time, is a little more weight to put him among the top-notchers of the College League. The score:

DE WITT VAN COURT'S COLUMN.

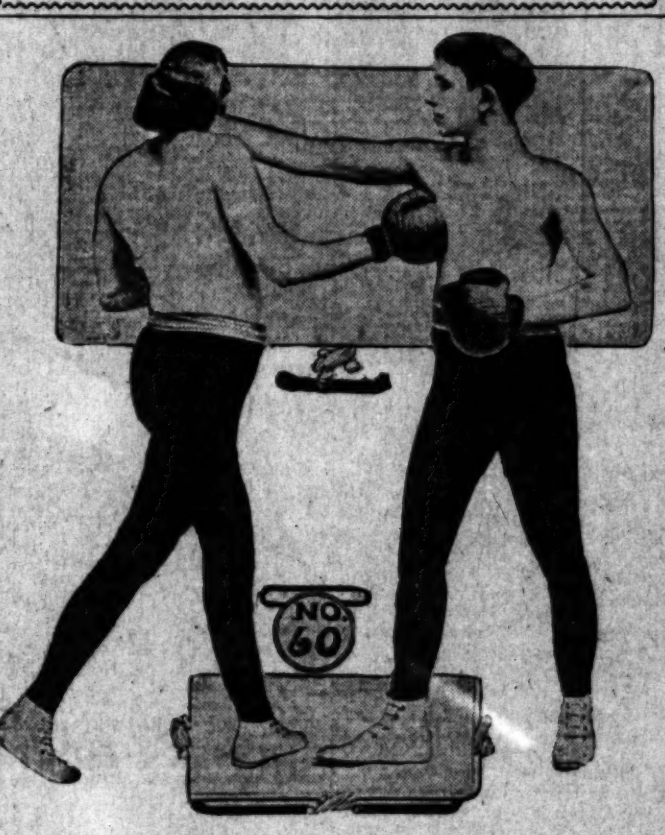

The coming middleweight elimination championship tournament about to be started by Tom McCarey should bring out the best in the country, and run six months or longer, to decide the champion. But there is a question that has been overlooked at the start that will no doubt cause a lot of dissatisfaction and question later on.

It is understood that the weight is to be 155 pounds. This is four pounds over the correct weight in that class. One hundred and fifty-eight pounds is a light heavyweight, and it is pretty certain that if Tommy's newcomer is in the 154-pound class, he will have something to say on that score. It is not fair to such men as Bert Fagan, Jack Herrick and several others to give four pounds to some of the tough light heavyweights. The weight has been raised to satisfy several fighters that cannot make 154.

fighting it would hardly be worth as much as a middleweight title. Some definite weight should be settled on before this tournament is started if we are to get the real goods.

A light-heavyweight class might be pulled off at the same time and lead up to some good white hope. There are a lot of young fellows with some experience that will develop into heavyweights in a few years. This would be a much better way than to send such unknowns as Soldier Elder after Jack Johnson, Soldier Elder, nor any other young fellow, will ever be the heavyweight champion until he has had quite a number of years' experience with the best men in the game. It takes years to develop a champion in any class.

IS CARLISLE REALLY COMING?

Hap Hogan strenuously denied last night that Walter Carlisle would not be in a Vernon uniform this summer.

"I have his signed contract in my pocket now," said Hogan, "and Carlisle, in his last letter to me, said that he was perfectly satisfied with everything. There was only the small difference of $50 between us and we gave in on this point to Carlisle and he is to report here immediately."

This statement of Hogan came as the result of word being received from Minneapolis stating that Carlisle had signed a contract to remain in that city and manage a semi-professional team.

Hogan said that there is a mistake somewhere, as Carlisle cannot play organized baseball in the United States outside of the Vernon team and he expects the great fielder and batsman to report at any moment and don his Vernon uniform.

FEAR-SHAKEN TRIUMPHATE.

Lisner, Johnson and Rowell on Anxious Bench.

Coming Exposure of Treachery Starts Stampede.

Will Seek Compromise With Betrayed La Follette.

Senator La Follette's announcement that he is coming to California and tell the whole story of the betrayal of his candidacy and the progressive cause in this State by Johnson, Lisner, Rowell et al has stirred the wobbly insurgent bandwagon from stem to stern.

According to Thomas Kass, president of the La Follette organization in Southern California, the Wisconsin man will take the public into his confidence during his California campaign and add an interesting and illuminating chapter to the recent political acrobatic flip-flops and somersaults of the Johnson, Lisner, Rowell company of "patriots."

Kass and other La Follette followers in Los Angeles charge that the Johnson-Lisner-Rowell triumvirate manipulated the "progressive" cause in such a way as to commandeer the leaders and admirers who started with La Follette and brought about his repudiation in favor of the gad-zooks hunter, a repudiation that had much to do with the physical collapse of La Follette.

"La Follette followers in Los Angeles and California have not yet become reconciled to the assumption of Roosevelt of the "progressive" leadership. They view with suspicion his present friendly relations with such thoroughly seasoned standpatters as Dill Ward and George Aldridge of New York, Dan Hanna of Ohio, George Perkins Meyer of Wisconsin and other bosses who have never been conspicuous for their advocacy of progressive ideas and ideals.

Very frank, though extremely cautious, are the simon-pure, dyed-in-the-wool "progressives" in expressing their opinion of some of the features of the colonel's campaign for the support of any and all kinds of Republicans without reference to their previous connections or present motives.

Johnson and other former friends of La Follette who deserted his standard as rats desert a sinking ship, firmly believed that La Follette would not subjectly surrender to the Roosevelt forces when he discovered the wholehearted desertion of former allies and supporters. But the Badger State politician does not appear to be built that way. Johnson, Lisner, Rowell and other Californians discovered this feature of La Follette's physical make-up the moment they slunk away from his chariot. A strong subterranean rumor has it that the trio is strenuously endeavoring to patch things up with the Senator and avert the coming explosion.

One thing is certain, besides taxes and death, and that is that Johnson, Lisner and Rowell are in for a fine takin'-tannin when La Follette undertakes the story of his betrayal by these vociferous shouters for the Oyster Bay aspirant to the Presidency.

UNFORESEEN TROUBLE.

The Johnson and Lisner stripe of "wide-waisted" statesmen have made a practice for years of throwing down friends and trusted workers without the slightest reason, but even their closest progressive associates never for one instant anticipated the La Follette "coup" of back-stabbing.

"La Follette will speak in every town and city in California," said Kass yesterday. "He is not only going to attack the Johnson and Lisner band but he will say a few things about Roosevelt's record on the tariff and other big governmental questions. He will tell the whole story of his betrayal from beginning to end and in all probability will publish certain interesting correspondence carried on between himself and certain aspirants to the California Presidency."

Before he completes his California tour the people will know a whole lot about the treachery, ambition, greed, falsehood and faithlessness of higher-ups in the progressive cause.

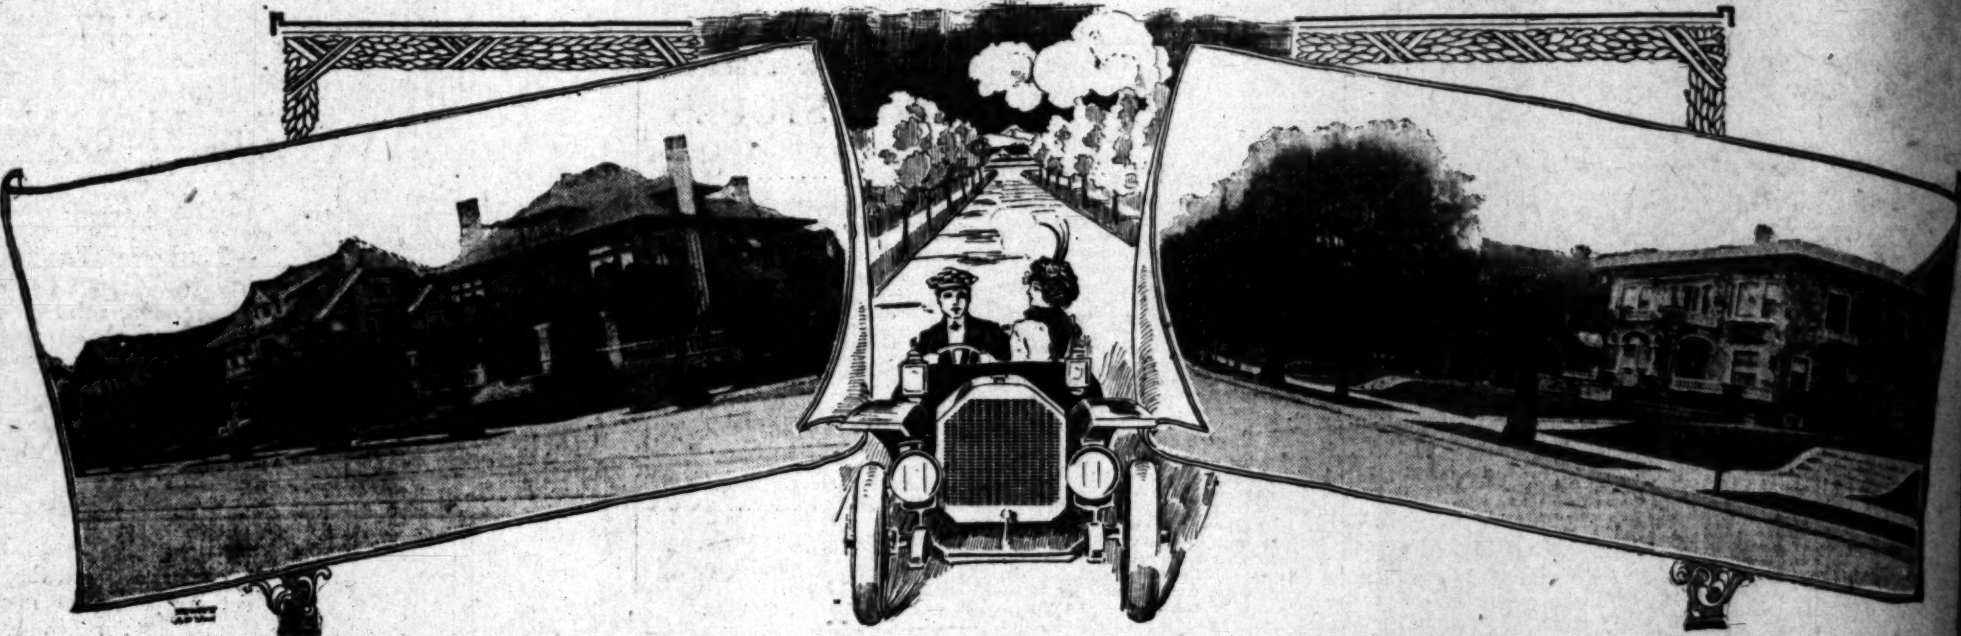

According to W. L. Houser, La Follette's campaign manager, the Senator will be established in every city and town in Inyo county before the April election.

Watterson called at the Taft headquarters in the Angeles Hotel and reported that Inyo county is solid for Taft and the regular Republican programme. He says that the few insurgent Republicans in that locality are about evenly divided between La Follette and Roosevelt.

"The progressives in my county are fighting among themselves," said Watterson, "and it wouldn't surprise me a bit to see a majority of them on the Taft bandwagon before the Presidential preference primary election."

The scrap between the La Follette and Roosevelt wings of the progressive party is more bitter than between the Roosevelt and Taft forces.

Scenes Along the Beautiful Washington Boulevard

The Last High Ground on West Adams Hill—"West View Heights," a Washington Boulevard Subdivision, Attracts Much Attention

The last high ground on West Adams Hill has been captured at last by a syndicate composed of J. E. Adams, G. F. Sloan and others, and has just been placed upon the market at exceptionally attractive prices. Sales in the new tract have started off with a veritable rush. Despite the high winds and heavy rains that prevailed on the first two days of the opening, sales exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the salesmen in the office of Chas. O. Middleton, general agent for West View Heights—the appropriate name of this commanding eminence.

Here is a subdivision in which the owners prove their confidence by their decisions to build and live there. In fact, every owner and agent connected with the property has decided to locate at West View Heights permanently. The erection of a $10,000 home on a Washington Blvd. corner will be started immediately. It will be owned and occupied by J. E. Adams. G. F. Sloan will also build a fine home on Rimpau avenue immediately. A 165-foot frontage on West View Avenue is the site of a handsome home to be erected by Chas. O. Middleton. From a home or speculative standpoint, West View Heights is probably the best subject offered in the growing Southwest section of Los Angeles. There is no waiting for public utilities at West View Heights Gas, water, electricity and phones are established. Five-cent car fare without transferring, to reach all grammar schools, high schools, theaters, churches or any part of the business center is afforded. Most dependable car line in the city, with a 22-minute running time to Broadway.

A feature of West View Heights is the substantial improvement plan, which includes wide parkings and the finest type of cement walks, curbs and gutters. Decorative trees will be placed in all parkings. They will be furnished free and planted and cared for one year. The residential beauty of West View will be protected forever. High class building restrictions insure this condition.

The photographs above show two scenes on beautiful Washington Boulevard, which is destined to become Los Angeles' finest residential thoroughfare. This grand highway is already paved from the city to the beach, and it has been stated on good authority that the Broadway electrolier lighting system is being considered for the illumination of this splendid avenue.

Mr. William C. Morris, for seventeen years President of the Laclede-Mackie Clay Products Company of St. Louis, has selected a frontage of 110 feet, with the idea of erecting a beautiful home. Mr. Jonathan S. Dodge has reserved 110 feet frontage on Rimpau Avenue, Mr. Albert E. Mills a 55-foot lot on Mineral Avenue and Mrs. Catherine Monahan also 55 feet on Mineral Avenue. Mr. C. J. Griffin has selected a choice lot on West View Avenue, and many other reservations are being made.

Mr. D. S. Halladay, late supervising engineer for the Advisory Board to the Highway Commission, is in charge of all improvements. This is in itself a guarantee that they will be of an exceptionally substantial character.

The view from West View Heights is probably unsurpassed in any residential section of Los Angeles. To see this rapidly selling subdivision, take a Washington Street car marked "Rimpau," get off at the end of the line. A representative is at the tract daily from 8:30 to 5:30. The general agent for West View Heights is Mr. Chas. O. Middleton, with offices at 208-204 Story Building, Sixth and Broadway. Telephone, A1788, Main 2724. Mr. Edward D. Zehrer is sales manager.

What They All Say.

OPENS HIS EYES IN ASTONISHMENT

RETURNING BUSINESS MAN CAN HARDLY REALIZE IT.

Says Growth of City Is Like a Miracle and This the Most Wonderful Country in the World. Prepares to Establish Lumber Distributing Point.

This is the most wonderful country in the world," said Robert G. Pruyn, president of the National Commercial Bank of Albany, director of the Delaware and Hudson Railway, and president of the Colima Lumber Company, last night. He arrived in Southern California yesterday and is at the home of his son, Fred Pruyn, Pasadena. He visited here fifteen years ago, and had not seen the city since.

"When officials of the Colima Lumber Company decided to make Los Angeles their principal distributing point I was rather amazed and objected at first," he continued. "My son aided in with General Manager Dewey, and we arranged to put in a small plant, at least. Since my arrival I have become fully assured of their wisdom on this point. This is a miracle city."

"To the man who has never been here there can be no realization of the wonderful work that has been done on San Pedro harbor. The creation here of one of the finest harbors on the Pacific Coast should be rushed for the great commerce that must eventually come here. Los Angeles, I have come to realize, is a distributing center of great importance."

"With its radiating railways it reaches out to the entire Southwest and even the Middle West, and is easier of approach than any other coast city. For that reason it will probably be the greatest shipping port on the completion of the Panama Canal. In order to make it so it is essential that the harbor be ready to receive the immense steamers of the great maritime companies. We are already planning an increase in the steamship line, which we have started to points on the west coast of Mexico. Our establishment here means a great industry for this section, the handling of a vast amount of Mexican timber, the movement of which has been started within the last four months."

Because of the large acreage holdings of the lumber company in Mexico, Pruyn has been keeping in close touch with the situation there. "I find that the sentiment of educated Mexico is all against the present strife. There is a general desire for peace, and the revolution is

INQUEST TODAY TO GET FACTS.

CORONER DISSATISFIED AS TO AUTO ACCIDENT.

Mutilated Body of Pretty Girl Bookkeeper to Be Object of Rigid Investigation of Circumstances Surrounding Car Tragedy—Unexplained Details.

Coroner Hartwell will hold an inquest at 10 o'clock this morning over the mutilated remains of Miss Louise Wichman, the victim of the automobile accident Sunday afternoon at the intersection of Western and Santa Barbara avenues, around which considerable mystery has been thrown by conflicting statements and apparent efforts to suppress the facts.

Early yesterday morning an attaché of the coroner's office made the announcement that no inquest would be held. It was said it was not considered necessary, as friends of the young woman were present when she met her death. When Hartwell was interrogated yesterday afternoon he said:

"We most certainly are going to hold an inquest. One is quite necessary. Arrangements are now being made to hold it."

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Connel undertaking parlors. The remains will be cremated at Evergreen Cemetery.

Although Miss Wichman was killed at 3:30 o'clock, it was almost four hours later before the officers at the University Police Station, in which district the accident occurred, were fully advised. At 9 o'clock the police only had a garbled account of the affair, despite assertions of the street-car officers that they notified them before 5 o'clock.

A sneak thief with a pass-key entered the J. A. Banning house, No. 842 East Sixteenth street, sometime Sunday night and stole about $1200 worth of jewelry. There were three diamonds, said to be worth $500, among the loot. The remainder consisted of a bracelet, watch and other minor articles.

While L. L. Harris was visiting near his home, No. 1608 East Fourth street, some one entered the house and stole a watch.

Mrs. L. B. Higgins, of the Santa Fe Hospital, reported to the police yesterday that while she was taking in the Fashion Show Sunday night, some one stole her watch.

Immigration Inspector Tells of Accused Merchant's Account of Wholesale Smuggling of Chinese.

The extent of the business of smuggling contraband Chinese into this country from Mexico was indicated by the testimony of Inspector Conkling in the United States District Court yesterday against Woo Wai, secretary of the Six Companies of San Francisco. He said Woo Wai told him that a smuggler named A. W. Hall had brought 400 Chinese into San Francisco Bay at once. The trip had been made by sea from Ensenada and Woo Wai said, according to the testimony that the opposition of Hall was so strong that he might be compelled to go on to China as the Chinamen did not care to put in a month's struggle over the valleys and through the canyons from the Mexican border to Redlands and San Bernardino, when they could come by sea with comfort.

On the Lookout.

The Sheriff has received a circular from Kansas City asking him to be on the lookout for Robert Rogers, who killed Hazel Hardesty in Kansas City last September. There is a reward for his capture. AGENCIES SHOW CITY'S GROWTH.

Progress of Past Decade Is Graphically Told.

Traffic Interests' Wonderful Expansion in South.

and Steamship Lines Are Greatly Increased.

A committee of the Los Angeles Traffic Association is preparing a report on the increase of railroad representation in Los Angeles in the last decade. The development is outlined in a statement made by E. S. Edgerton, president of the association, as follows:

The rapidity of growth of traffic in Southern California is illustrated by the number of representation agencies in Los Angeles in the last decade. The Los Angeles Traffic Association, which is now past two years old, has enrolled in its membership list 175 officials of agencies of railroad and steamship lines in this city, representing the entire country. The 175 officials represent the 350,000 miles of railroad in the United States; all the coastwise and one foreign steamship line entering California; and the two greatest express companies in the world, and the Pullman company.

Two years ago there were but two representation agencies in Los Angeles. At that time there were no railroads, or commercial agencies in this city, representing steamship lines, but two steamship lines operating regularly scheduled routes from Southern California ports, and but one express company operating in Southern California. Today there are three great railroads here for both the trans-continental and coastwise departments; twenty general or commercial agencies, and three sub-agencies, the latter representing general agents at the ports.

There are now four coastwise and three steamship lines operating in Southern California, and a regular schedule of sailing. In addition to the above, an express company has entered this field to share the heavy traffic of the coastwise and the above agencies, like the Pacific and Pennsylvania, represent many great railroads that connect the entire country, and a few exceptions all important railroads in the United States have their official representatives in Los Angeles.

It was introduced three years ago as a means of providing for the Southern Pacific, and now it is celebrated on April 30. Through the efforts of the Southern Pacific, the day has become a tradition, and there is hardly a part of the United States where rain is not celebrated on this occasion.

The San Bernardino Sheriff had not had previous information of the burglary, hence the apprehension of the men is directly traceable to The Times' story.

FAIR GROUNDS ARE SOLD.

Tulare County Offers Forty Acres to Be Used for Exposition Purposes—Insurance Company Grows.

TULARE, March 18.—Tulare's fair grounds, upon which county exhibitions and races were held for many years, were sold to the highest bidder this afternoon, at a sale which was held under mortgage held by local mortgagees.

The property brought $20,000, which was $3000 more than the obligation against it, signed by the old Tulare County Agricultural Association.

Immediately following the sale Mayor Heitsch made a public announcement that he would donate to the city a forty-acre tract of ground to be free to the city as long as used for fair purposes, on condition that the business men subscribe a suitable amount for proper buildings.

This offer has been taken up by the Merchants' Association and the Board of Trade, and there is every reason to believe that a sufficient sum can be raised.

INSURANCE INCREASE.

Members of the Pomona Grange, who have organized the Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company, at their meeting held last evening decided to increase the total amount of insurance carried to $5,000,000.

Practically all of the members of the grange favor registering under the "compensation" clause of the new laws and writing insurance in the new mutual to cover possible damages.

Legal advice has been sought and by the insurance laws of the State permit steps will be taken at once to write the new policies.

of the largest and most extravagant displays of fruits and other products at the show. A large crowd of Utah people, in addition to the party which came with the Governor, is expected to add to the success of today's celebration. Last year Utah day was one of the biggest of the show.

Gov. Spry and most of the members of his official party are registered at the Westminster. The Governor will remain until Thursday when he will leave for San Francisco.

The Governor stayed last night that Utah will send a solid Utah delegation to the Chicago convention. He is a strong admirer of the President.

"Utah is almost solid for Taft," said he. "There is very little Roosevelt sentiment in my State, and Utah will send eight delegates to Chicago instructed to vote for Taft."

SUCCESSFUL PRESIDENT.

"President Taft has had a successful administration. He has made political mistakes, but Taft has never pretended to be a politician. However, the good he has done as the Chief Executive is apparent to close students of governmental matters and an appreciation of this is becoming more general among the people at large.

"President Taft in his Chicago speech referred to the railroad legislation enacted during the last three years, his policy in the prosecution of trusts, his advocacy of Federal incorporation, his conservation policy and the establishment of postal savings banks. But this is only a partial list of the things he has accomplished during his term. All true Republicans endorse these policies, for they are essentially progressive. Taft is a genuine progressive every sense of the word. He is not wedded to the past in any particular. His face is toward the future. He realizes that he is living in a growing country and a progressive age.

"President Taft stands upon as evidence a record as ever was made in public life by a President surpassed in this country. And if the people have their say, he is going to continue to lead. In my opinion he is growing stronger every day for the people are realizing that he has made a dignified, honest and able Chief Executive.

PROSPEROUS UTAH.

"They tell me the Land Show is a mighty fine exposition," continued the Governor. "Utah furnishes many of the products shown in Los Angeles and Southern California. Our relations with Los Angeles are two-fold—we find a market here and we find the people who produce here increase our production. With it all Los Angeles is growing as a great business center for all the West.

"Utah is enjoying wonderful prosperity in every way. Our cities are going ahead very fast, and small towns are springing up all over the State.

Prominent members of the Governor's special party are: State Senator Henry Gardner, Joseph E. Cairnes, secretary Salt Lake City Commercial Club; ex-Mayor J. S. Bransford of Salt Lake City; D. A. Swan, M. H. Dasky, Prof. L. A. Merrill, Glen Miller, Dr. W. L. Ellerbeck, N. C. Wright and Dr. H. Mandelstam, assistant general passenger agent Salt Lake Route.

A splendid musical programme has been prepared for this afternoon and evening. The grand chorus will represent the sextette from Lucia and Crulakeen Lawn, in which Thomas Taylor Drill takes the solo part, will also be repeated. Creators' world-famous band will repeat several of the numbers that have been enthusiastically received.

BABY TOWNS BIG SHOWING.

The wealth, progress and stability of the new towns—the baby towns—in Southern California is strikingly exemplified in the rich artistic displays of the wonderful variety of country products on exhibition at the land show.

Van Nuys has a strong showing of the varied horticultural and agricultural products of the San Fernando Valley. Owensmouth is there, too. The little towns of Walnut and Lemon, in La Puente Valley, are displaying some of the finest citrus

FIRST GRAY HAIR SIGN OF AGE

EASY WAY TO PRESERVE COLOR.

A harmless remedy, made from common garden sage, quickly restores gray hair to natural color. The care of the hair, to prevent it from losing its color and luster, is just as important as to care for teeth to keep them from discoloring. Why spend money for cosmetics and creams to improve the complexion, and yet neglect your hair, when gray hair is even more conspicuous and suggestive of age than wrinkles or a poor complexion? Of the two, it is easier to preserve the natural color and beauty of the hair than it is to have a good complexion.

All that is necessary is the occasional use of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of common garden sage and sulphur, combined with other valuable remedies for dry, harsh, faded hair, dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. After a few applications of this simple, harmless remedy, your hair will gradually be restored to its natural color, in a short time the dandruff will be removed, and your hair will no longer come out, but will start to grow as Nature intended it should. Don't neglect your hair, for it goes further than anything else to make or mar your good looks. You can buy this remedy at any drug store for fifty cents a bottle, and your druggist will give you money back if you are not satisfied after using it. Purchase a bottle today. You will never regret it when you realize the difference it will make in your appearance. Special Agent, Sun Drug Co.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.
BOSTON, March 18.—President Taft ended his part in Boston's annual celebration of Evacuation Day, and St. Patrick's Day here with a "look-in" on the dinner of the Bank Officers' Association, the Bank Paper Trade Association and the Bank Club of Boston, tonight.

Many ways it was the busiest and most demonstrative day the President has spent since he entered the White House. From the time his train arrived at 7 o'clock this morning, until he retired tonight, Bostonians vied with one another to express their respect for him.

The President's reception by the Board of the Massachusetts State House was one of the most remarkable in point of enthusiasm that has been witnessed here.

He was cheered to the echo. From the Statehouse the President motored to the South Boston and for more than an hour listened to the cheering of thousands of Bostonians, saw thou-

LADY JURORS.

Two Side With Five Men and the Forewoman With Four.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.
MARTINSVILLE, March 18.—The three women who were the first to sit on a Tuba county jury followed the precedents set by many generations of male jurors and disagreed on their verdict today. Two of the women sided with five of the men for acquittal while Mrs. Nellie Eastman, who was chosen "forelady," voted with four men for conviction in the case of Louis Ditzler, charged with having struck and choked a woman. The jury deliberated, and was discharged after having announced that a verdict could not be reached.

BATTLE IN THE MOUNTAINS IS HOURLY EXPECTED.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.
GREENSBORO (N. C.), March 18.—Long distance telephone messages from Mt. Airy, N. C., late tonight announced that a messenger had arrived there asking that every available man be sent to Squirrel's Spur, twelve miles from Mt. Airy, and just inside the Virginia border, where it was believed Sidna Allen and several of his gang are surrounded by a posse of forty men.

According to the messenger, the posse had formed a cordon about Squirrel's Spur at 1 o'clock. An attack on the place at daylight is planned. The officers came upon Wesley Edwards, a nephew of Sidna and Floyd Allen, at his cabin eight miles east of Sidna Allen's home at sundown. Edwards escaped by a back door, leaving his rifle and pistol behind. A sister of the fugitive told the posse that Sidna Allen was at the house this morning, badly wounded, and that he told Edwards to come to Squirrel's Spur tonight.

The posse trailed Edwards to the rendezvous. Squirrel's Spur is in the mountain range extending past Hillsville. It is inaccessible except by foot and is a natural fortress. About half an acre of open space on the mountain side is enclosed by rocks.

Detective Felt took a posse into the hills early today. At least a dozen houses, the homes of members of the Allen clan or their sympathizers, were searched on the way, but not a trace of the outlaws was found.

Floyd Allen, the outlaw whose sentence by the court precipitated the massacre, lay in the Roanoke jail today with wounds and a broken leg and moaned that he wished he had followed his wife's advice.

"I've got a good wife," said the outlaw.

Supervisors Plan Suit for Quarter of Million on Company Bond.

Special Election on Telephone Merger Going Through Just the Same.

Municipal Ownership Question Involved; Automatics to Be Discarded.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Action of some sort is expected to be taken by the Board of Supervisors at its regular meeting tomorrow with regard to the sale by the Home Telephone Company of its plant to the Pacific Telephone Company for $9,275,000, the transaction having been completed on last Saturday.

News of the sale, coming at a time when a proposition to merge the two companies had been before the Supervisors for months, and when a special election had been called for March 29 to submit the merger to the people, caused a sensation.

As yet the legal members of the Supervisors are not certain just where the city "is at" since the coup of the corporation. The backers of the special election assert that they are going ahead, although there is a general belief that the election will be a useless expenditure of some $40,000.

NO WAY TO STOP IT.
President Cator of the Election Commission says there is no way now by which the election can be stopped.

The Municipal Telephone Anti-Merger League declares that it will go ahead for the election of March 29, which will give the expression of the people on the municipal ownership, if nothing else.

"We have not struck our colors," said Edward F. Ford, one of the league's leaders. "We are going ahead with a determination to win."

One feature of the sale will be the elimination of the automatic 'phone and the establishment of a uniform service in San Francisco and through the northern part of the State.

Under the terms of its franchise the company put up a bond of $250,000 for the faithful performance of the terms of the franchise, one of which was that the company should not sell without permission of the city.

Action is likely by the city to recover the $250,000, although the Home Telephone officials declare that they will fight to the Supreme Court of the United States if necessary.

Alexander Vogelsang, chairman of the Public Utilities Committee of the Supervisors, said, in discussing the sale:

"If that in all there is left for us, and we have good ground for so doing, then we shall proceed with great haste to get the bond out for the surrender of that $250,000."

"I shall introduce a resolution for

KING PREVENTS MATCH OF PRINCE AND AMERICAN GIRL

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, March 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] King Alfonso of Spain, and not the Pope at Rome, it became known today, is responsible for the hitch in arranging a marriage between Miss Mary L. Duke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin N. Duke, and Prince Ludovico Pignatelli d'Aragon. When Prince Ludovico was informed early this month that the King did not look with favor on his contemplated match with the daughter of the American tobacco magnate, he packed his trunk and left for Madrid. There he will try to convince the royal household that his future bride should be received.

Benjamin N. Duke is said to be violently opposed to the proposed match, but his wife and son, so close friends of the family say, had won his reluctant consent when the Prince's mother wrote that King Alfonso did not regard the match with favor.

Volubility.

TO TIE UP ALL ENGLAND IS THE THREAT OF MANN.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

LONDON, March 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Drastic legislation to prevent strikes in industries vital to the community promises to become necessary in the United Kingdom.

The strike of the coal miners has caused an unrest which threatens trouble throughout the labor world. The agitators prominently identified with the strike of the railway men, dockers and car men, last summer are again becoming voluble.

Tom Mann, member of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, and a Socialist, announces that if the bill about to be presented in Parliament to establish a minimum wage in the coal industry proves unsatisfactory to the working people, he will urge a strike of the railway men and transport workers that will bring about an "utter paralysis of the business of the country."

"The depletion of the trades union funds now in rapid progress will make no difference in our plans," says Mr. Mann. "Our power is such that in a few days we can bring the employers to our feet. We do not need large strike funds."

It is impossible to dismiss Mann's threats as empty. He has been influential in the trades union movement for thirty years, is a former president of the International Transport Workers' Federation, and is widely known among the workers of the United Kingdom. He added considerably to his prestige as leader of the striking railway men and transport workers in Liverpool last summer. The transport workers showed themselves powerful then and they have been growing at an unprecedented rate since then. The organization now numbers more than 250,000 men.

In the council of this union the riverside workers of London exert a Youth Forced to Drive the Convicts' Rig Is Also a Victim of Posse.

Desperate Running Fight Over a Course Nearly Three Miles Long.

Liberty of Prisoners Who Escaped by Murder Route Is Cut Short.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.
OMAHA (Neb.), March 18.—Two of the convicts, John Dowd and John Taylor, alias "Shorty" Gray, who escaped last Thursday from the State Penitentiary at Lincoln, and Roy Hunt, an innocent victim of the murderous attempt to secure liberty, are dead as the result of an exciting battle between the bandits and officers this afternoon.

Charles Morley, the third member of the trio which escaped from the State Prison after killing three officials of that institution, saved his life by surrendering after a running battle over two and a half miles of country.

The three convicts were within striking distance of the goal which they hoped might secure their safety when the final desperate struggle for liberty occurred. They had covered the stretch from Lincoln to within ten miles of the Omaha limits, where they had expected to receive the protection of friends.

THE FIRST WORD.
Early in the day the telephone operator in Gretna, about fifteen miles south of here, gave notice of the presence in that vicinity of the desperate men. This message brought out several possums, one from Omaha, composed of detectives and police officers, another composed of Sheriff McNamee and deputies of this county; a third made up of Sheriff Hyers and his deputies from Lincoln. Sheriff Chase of Sarpy county and his deputies also were within striking distance and South Omaha sent two possums under Chief of Police Briggs. The Gretna company of militia was early on the scene.

Chief Briggs of South Omaha and his deputy, John C. Trouton, were leaders in the party which finally vanquished the convicts. Briggs left Omaha on a special train with several police officers. They located the men had broken into a store at Maywood, between here and Lincoln, and stolen guns, ammunition and clothing.

THEIR DESTINATION.
It was learned that the men were on their way north with Albricht's, a suburb, as their destination. Chief Briggs was joined by Sheriff Chase and Sheriff Hyers of Lincoln. The pursuers drove in wagons. Three miles out of Springfield, Nebraska, learned that the convicts had forced James Hunt and his wife, parents of the murdered man, to give them breakfast and furnish a team and wagon with which they hoped to escape to Albricht. Every man in the pursuing party was armed with rifle or revolver. The rural telephone played its part in the chase and the pursuers were able to learn from homes along the route of the progress of the fugitives.

Eight miles from here the officers came up to the vehicle carrying the convicts. Young Hunt, who was driving, was forced to lash his horses into a run, but the officers kept up the chase until they were within a few hundred yards. Then Chief Briggs, driver, who led the rest of the party, balked and refused to drive further. Briggs himself grasped the reins and whipped the horses into a gallop.

When they were within a hundred yards Briggs and Trouton opened fire. From that time until Morley surrendered, it was a dashed fight over three miles of rough road. The convicts were armed with shotguns and revolvers. The shot came rattling into the faces of the pursuers and their horses, while the revolver bullets were spent in the snowdrifts beside the road.

THE FIRST TO FALL.
Finally there was a halt, when young Hunt toppled back into the wagon, the victim of a bullet. Chief Briggs jumped from the buggy in which he was riding and with deliberate aim fired at the man in the wagon. Meantime, other members of the posse came up and joined in the fusillade. John Dowd was next to fall. It was at first reported he had shot himself, but Chief Briggs believes he was struck by a bullet from the posse. Convict Morley still asserts, however, that Dowd fired into his own brain the bullet that ended his life. Next Taylor fell, and then Charles Morley, the third convict, threw up his hands.

Not knowing just what had happened, Briggs demanded of Morley the surrender of the other men in the wagon.

"They are all dead," said Morley. Briggs then went to the wagon, taking Morley with him, and found the three lifeless bodies. Sheriff Hyers

NAVY ESTIMATE OF THE ENGLISH.

A Reduction of a Million Plus from Last Year.

Churchill Says His Policy Depends on Germany.

If Berlin Quits Building So Also Will London.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES. LONDON, March 18.—Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, in the House of Commons introduced today the naval estimates for the coming year. The appropriation called for is £224,427,000, a decrease of £1,535,000 from last year.

Mr. Churchill accompanied the introduction with a promise of an augmentation or a retardation of British naval construction to correspond with Germany's naval programme. He said he regretted the necessity of referring specifically to Germany. Mr. Churchill then went on to tell of the conditions under which naval competition would be carried on in the next few years, prefacing his remarks with the statement that the two to one standard was not necessary at present, although it possibly would become so.

TWO POWER STANDARD. "The two power standard" has been extended by some of its supporters," continued Mr. Churchill, "to include the United States, and by this means it has lost both good sense and reality."

The first lord laid down a 60 per cent. superiority in battleships and battle cruisers of the Dreadnought type as compared with the German navy as a convenient basis for the next four or five years. He pointed out that Great Britain at present possessed an enormous superiority in pre-Dreadnought vessels and urged the augmentation of new British construction to meet the existing German naval law. Mr. Churchill said it would be necessary for Great Britain to construct four and three Dreadnoughts every year alternately for the next six years. He added that any retardation or reduction of German construction would be promptly followed by a proportionate measure of reduction in Great Britain.

THE ENGLISH POSITION.

Mr. Churchill continued: "This is our position—that the Germans will not be gainers in naval power by any increase they may make and will not be losers from any diminution. Here is a perfectly plain plan and arrangement by which without diplomatic negotiation, without bargaining, and without the slightest restriction of the sovereign freedom of either power this costly naval rivalry can at any time be abated."

Referring to the building programme, which includes four large armored ships, eight light armored cruisers, twenty destroyers and several submarines, Mr. Churchill said that £2,500,000 was to be expended on the construction of submarines this year, and as regards the light armored cruisers the admiralty had decided to return to a smaller type of vessel as being more useful than the recently built vessels of the Chatham class of 4,000 tons.

"The light armored cruisers," said the speaker, "will be the smallest, cheapest and fastest vessels projected for the British navy. They will be strong enough and fast enough to overhaul and cut down any destroyer."

SMALL CHANCE FOR SUFFRAGE.

Coal Strike Side-Tracks "Votes for Women" Agitation Despite Stones and Broken Windows.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES. LONDON, March 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Little, if any, headway toward votes for women, it is believed in Liberal circles, will be made in Parliament this year. The situation precipitated by the industrial agitation involves far-reaching changes in the government's legislative programme; and, in view of the probability that the electoral reform scheme of Mr. Asquith will be postponed until several questions more critical have been dealt with, the issue of woman suffrage may be sidetracked irrespective of the excitement created by the tactics of the militant suffragettes.

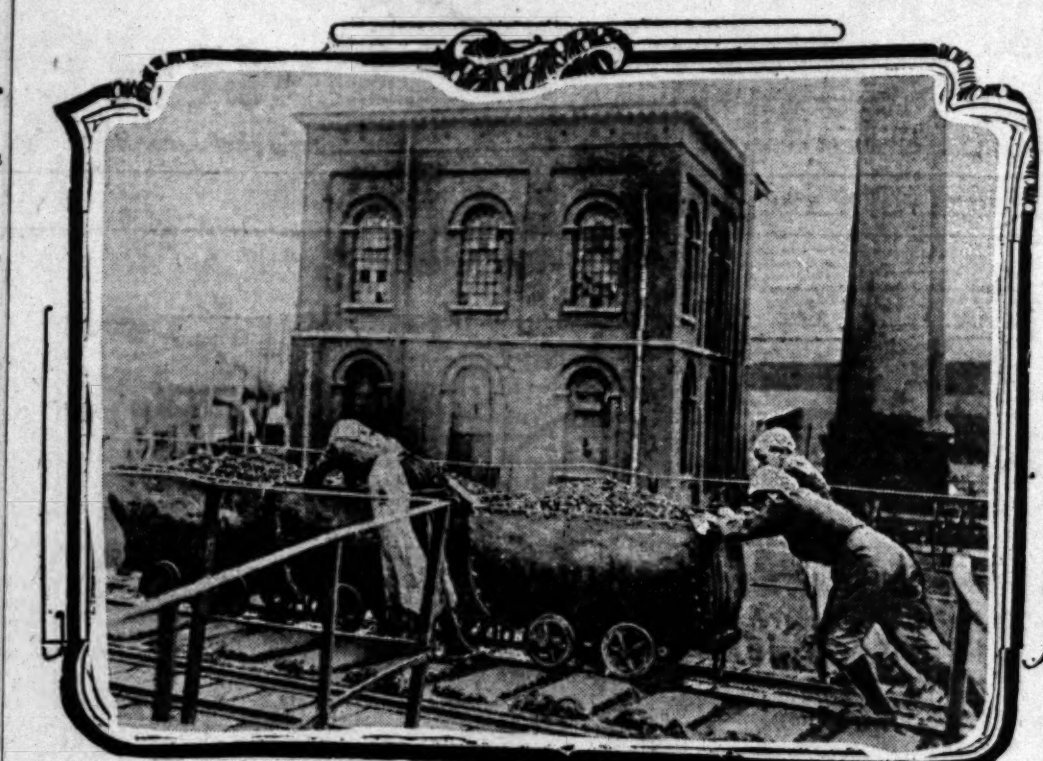

Possibly on the so-called conciliation bill the women may be rewarded by a larger vote in their favor than ever was given in the Commons; but the prospect, once highly encouraging to Mrs. Pethick Lawrence and Mrs. Fawcett, of carrying the measure is no longer, to quote a radical organ, a good thing. Fresh fuel has been added to the flames of the controversy by the revival of Winston Churchill's suggestion that the whole question be submitted to referendum. When this idea first was broached the women suffragists denounced it as a "vile plot." Mrs. Fawcett pilloried its sponsor as "one of the two very clever and very unprincipled men in the great opposing parties who would ruin us by a spurious agitation." Her view is unchanged.

WOMAN JAILED FOR CONTEMPT.

"They Can Tear My Tongue Out by Roots," She Says, "Before I'll Testify Against Son."

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES. SEATTLE (Wash.) March 18.—Mrs. Louise Kramer was judge in contempt of court today and was sentenced to thirty days imprisonment in the County Jail for refusing to testify against her son, L. M. Kramer, who is on trial accused of having robbed his mother of jewelry worth $125. Mrs. Kramer's attorneys gave notice of an appeal. In jail, Mrs. Kramer spoke her mind.

"They can tear out my tongue by the roots before I will testify against my son," she said. "He is not guilty of the crime, although the officers of the law are trying to fasten it upon him."

Women Coal Miners in Germany Pushing Cars.

Germany is facing a serious crisis with the big coal strike on its hands. Thousands of mine workers have quit work. In the German mines hundreds of women are employed and they are just as enthusiastic as the men in the strike movement.

is criticized in some quarters and is likely to lead to much opposition. Many of the British miners now on strike will return to the pits this week, according to opinions expressed today. It is believed that by next Monday operations will be in full swing in many collieries. In spite of the strike leaders' declaration that there will be no resumption of work until the minimum wages bill has passed Parliament, there are indications that the miners are tiring of the strike.

The loss to the trades-union funds during the last week, including those of the miners' unions, amounted to $1,500,000. Nine unions alone, exclusive of the miners, Saturday paid their members $450,000.

The trades-union funds are largely invested in bonds, the prices of which have been affected by the strike, and this causes them a further loss. There was a further curtailment of the railway passenger service today, while many factories have been obliged to close.

Several steam trawlers are laid up at the fishing port of Grimsby about the shortage of coal. There is some talk today of a general strike throughout the country during May, but this may be due to the fact that a series of trades-union movements will commence then. These may possibly lead to a general spread stoppages in many industries.

BACK TO WORK AGAIN.

BERLIN, March 18.—Ten thousand strikers resumed work in the Westphalia coal mines today, but the 1,500 on strike were joined by 13,000 or one-half of the Saxony miners, 2,800 in Hanover and 2,900 in the Saarbrücken district, while another 1,000 went to work in Schaumburg-Lippe tomorrow, making the total on strike nearly 200,000. The trials of the strikers arrested for creating disturbances in the mines, and of those accused of shouting "name" were sentenced to one month's imprisonment and others to two months.

FRENCH WANT TO STRIKE.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES. DENIA (France) March 18.—Many coal miners in this district in the department of Nord voted today to go on strike in spite of the decision of the French National Miners Federation against such action. BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES. SHAMOKIN (Pa.) March 18.—Eight hundred employees of the Scott Colliery, Shamokin, struck today because the Mineral Railroad and Mining Company refused to sell coal to the employees. It is feared employees at other collieries may strike for the same reason. The remainder of the mine workers, about 1,500 employed in the Panther Creek Valley, who quit a week ago in Pottsville because some of the men in the union refused to join the union, returned to work today. The men who quit were unsuccessful in getting all the workers to join the union.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES. NEW YORK, March 18.—That a suspension of work in the anthracite coal mines on April 1 because of the deadlock between the operators and the miners will not be continued long and that a settlement will be reached, was announced by coal operators here today. It was pointed out a similar situation existed when the agreement of the mine workers expired before, Vice-President Loomis of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad said and taking action was taken to prevent further conferences on the part of the miners. He said he felt that the rank and file of the mine workers were not anxious for a strike.

an opinion from City Attorney Long on the legal status of the situation. We can do nothing until that comes into our hands. With it before us we'll proceed to the solution of this problem.

So far as I am concerned I think the elimination of the extra telephone service is not a bad thing. I am not in favor of the city owning a competing company at this time. At this stage no city should own its own telephone service, because the telephone in a city is only a part of a great system, which extends into other States.

The telephone should not be owned until the day comes when they can be taken over by the Federal government. I am a thorough believer in the Federal ownership of both the telephone and the telegraph.

TO ABOLISH AUTOMATICS.

E. C. Bradley, vice-president of the Pacific company, said: "Automatic telephones will be abolished. Our engineers have decided that the automatic system is not a success, and we plan to put in the manual type of telephone where there are Home phones now, that are not duplicated by our own phones. I do not know what we shall do with the automatic machines. If we cannot dispose of them to some eastern buyer, we may have to throw them out for junk."

There will be no increase in rates. At least, we shall not ask the Supervisors for any increase. The old Home subscribers will get the same rate as the Pacific subscribers.

PRESIDENT CATOR OF THE ELECTION COMMISSION SAID:

"The sale of the Home Telephone Company does not affect the election which is called for March 28, at which the voters are to say whether or not the city should permit a merger and whether the Supervisors shall be instructed to institute proceedings for a bond election for $40,000, to purchase the Home Telephone Company's plant and operate it as a municipal system."

"The election will cost $40,000, and in the light of Saturday's proceedings I cannot say what good can be accomplished by it but under the law it must be held. I doubt if the courts could stop the election as it has been legally called. The Board of Election Commissioners are merely administrative officials, and have no discretion but to conduct the election."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] LINCOLN (Neb.) March 18.—Charles Morley, the convict who surrendered and was taken back to the penitentiary, told tonight the story of his escape, pursuit and today's battle. He said the volley from the posse in the fight near Gretna first killed young Blunt, the convict's hostage, who was driving them across the country. Convict Taylor was the next man hit and he died within a minute without saying a word.

"Dowd," said Morley, "shot himself in the head when he saw escape was impossible. He attempted to do this earlier in the game, but I knocked his hand away and told him that we might as well fight it out. I fired six shots with my revolver and then jumped out of the wagon and raised my hands above my head and ran toward the posse."

"Deputy Sheriff Ellenberry caught me by the collar and he and Sheriff Hyers saved my life. The bunch who were in the lead in the buggy wanted to shoot me after I had given up, but the two men wouldn't let them."

"We spent last night on the way from Prairie Home. We stopped at a farmer's named Elmer Hall and there we ate. We left them tied up and also cut their telephone wires. Near there we stole a hand-car. Last night we thought we were sure to get away and we were headed for the rock quarries at Louisville, but changed our route."

"We kept on north until we reached Blunt's, about four miles north of the track. There we ate again and talked with the Blunt boys, Roy and Lloyd, and made them give us a team. We knew that the posse was then only about an hour behind, so we took Roy Blunt as a hostage and left a note to the posse telling of this."

"From then on north for ten miles we kept out of sight of the posse, though we constantly met posses of farmers. These, however, were armed with shotguns and whenever they saw us they turned and drove the other way. About fourteen miles north of the tracks the leading buggy of the Sheriff's posse, which was strung out back of us for two miles, came within shooting distance of us. We fired first, but they promptly returned the fire and the boy, Blunt, and Taylor were killed early in the fight."

Morley declared that the escape from the penitentiary had not long been planned. He did not know of it Thursday morning. The guns were given him and Dowd by Taylor, who also had the explosive.

"We had no trouble in leaving the shops at the penitentiary," said Morley. "We simply left in a bunch and walked across the prison yard. We entered the chapel and Taylor went over to the deputy warden's office. We simply left the chapel and Deputy Warden Wagner was the general man we met. He drew his revolver and tried to shoot Taylor, but was dying at the time."

"When we made our escape we were armed with four revolvers. We also took along Phil's gun, but we did not have much ammunition."

"After our escape from the penitentiary we had a terrible time in the railroad sheds. We were almost exhausted when we reached shelter. All of us had our feet and hands frozen."

The next morning we held up a milk-wagon boy and, after getting breakfast at his home, forced him to haul us to the city. After he had let us out in Lincoln, we struck for some awhile we went on to Havlock. There we spent the night in a barn and also stayed there several times when a man came to get hay for the animals. We were covered up in the hay and once I had to draw up to keep the man from picking them up in the armload of feed."

"After staying a night and a day in the barn in Havlock we struck east. We stopped at the Hall residence near Prairie Home and stayed there part of last night."

Oakland Police Scanning the News Make Arrest of a Man Known in Los Angeles.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] OAKLAND (Cal.) March 18.—K. Paulina of Richmond, near here, is in jail tonight because his wife got a divorce from him. Two Oakland policemen, reading a newspaper in the square room came upon Paulina's name and address in an account of the divorce, and, remembering an order to look out for him as a forger, promptly went and got him. With him they arrested Ruby Stanley, 30 years old, who is charged with passing worthless checks. Both are wanted in Visalia. Ruby Stanley is said to be well known to the police in Los Angeles.

REDMOND ON HOME RULE.

WAPPENSTEIN SENTENCED.

Former Ohio Man, Later Chief of Police in Seattle, Receives a Term in the Penitentiary.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] OLYMPIA (Wash.) March 18.—The Supreme Court affirmed today the conviction of Charles W. Wapenstein, former Chief of Police of Seattle, on the charge of accepting a bribe.

Wapenstein was sentenced to serve from three to ten years at hard labor in Walla Walla State Prison.

The indictment charged that Wapenstein, in return for a bribe of $1000, permitted Gideon Tupper and Clarence J. Gerald to operate disorderly houses.

The defense set up eight reasons for a reversal, but the five judges before whom the case was heard were unanimous in overruling the objections.

Wapenstein was formerly chief of detectives of Cincinnati, and was dismissed from office June 7, 1885, a committee having investigated charges against him and found him guilty.

He was removed from office as a detective in Seattle, June 24, 1904, on recommendation of a Council Committee, which reported him unfit to occupy any position in the police department.

Later he was restored to the police force as patrolman, became detective, and was Chief of Police from 1906 to 1908. He was chief of Seattle's fair guards at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition in 1909, and was appointed Chief of Police by Mayor Hiram C. Gill in the spring of 1910.

Wapenstein's administration of the police department led to an investigation, the recall of Mayor Gill, the indictment and conviction of Wapenstein and a turmoil in Seattle, which was brought to a close by the inauguration of Mayor Cottrell, today.

A package that caused suspicion was directed to him was found to contain twenty books of stamps stolen from the Florin postoffice Friday night and $60 postal cards supposed to have been stolen from some other office.

The prisoner refused to give his name. He is believed to be an ex-convict. When the officers went to search him at the Police Station he started another fight.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Alien Exclusion Law, recently enacted by Congress, has been put into effect by the immigration authorities at San Francisco.

The league began to put into his family life and discovered that he was an undesirable alien. He was turned over to the immigration authorities on Pong's return with the result that he was detained as an "undesirable alien."

Pong contested on the ground his case and nothing was done with the general immigration laws. Appeal was taken to the Department of Commerce and Labor, which has decided against him.

BERLIN BANKS INVOLVED.

Collapse of the Real Estate Business in Germany Gets a Big Breakage Firm in Bad Straits.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] BERLIN, March 18.—Moster & Wersch of Berlin, one of the biggest real estate brokerage and promotion concerns in Germany, is in difficulty and seeking to make an arrangement with its creditors.

According to a statement issued by the firm today, its liabilities are $3,000,000 and assets $2,875,000.

The difficulties are said to be due to the prostration of the real estate building business, which has been caused partly by the increased taxation adopted in 1911. Several Berlin banks are said to be involved.

Message of Gov. Hunt to Arizona Legislature.

A Drastic Anti-Lobby Law Is Also Recommended.

He Dodges the Issue of Woman's Suffrage.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 18.—An audience that filled all available space in the assembly of the capital building was present today when Gov. George W. P. Hunt's message to the first Arizona Legislature was read.

The message was received with cheers by those in the galleries, half of whom were women.

After appointing committees that will have to do with the distribution of places in the capitol, both Senate and House adjourned until 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. It is understood to be the plan of the majority to equalize all patronage as far as possible between the several counties.

It was announced tonight that the Rev. W. R. Thornton of Phoenix would be appointed chaplain of the assembly, and Walter Brawner, chairman of the Maricopa County Democratic committee, was reasonably sure of appointment as sergeant-at-arms.

FROM THE MESSAGE.

A drastic anti-lobbying law, in conformity with a mandate of the Constitution, was urged in the Governor's message, and the Legislature adjourned to pass a resolution prohibiting all secret lobbying during the present session.

Although non-committal on the enfranchisement of women, the message recommended the submission of an equal suffrage amendment.

Free textbooks were advocated and the Legislature was urged to consider the question of old age pensions for Arizonians, "either men or women whose years of residence and devotion to our Territory's cause, through the period of its greatest trial, have failed to provide them with the means of easing their declining years."

The legislators were urged to pass a law requiring each newspaper in Arizona to publish in every issue "a full and complete list of its owners, stockholders and holders of securities, in whatever form they may exist."

A workmen's compulsory compensation law and an employers' liability law drafted along the lines laid down by the Constitution, an eight-hour day for all classes of labor, abolition of the employers' "black list," and the creation of an arbitration board to settle industrial disputes were among the measures recommended by the head of labor.

A plea for a credit institution for Arizona at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco in 1915, also was made. The Governor urged haste in the selection of a site for a State building.

The Governor declared that fairness to the people should prompt the Legislature to arrange for the election of a complete State ticket next fall, rather than the present advantage of the conflicting provisions of the Constitution, through which the present Legislature might serve until January 1, 1913.

The message concluded with an adjuration to "make good, in letter and in spirit, in thought and deed, by precept and example, by act and admonition, to yourselves, to your party, to your State, to your principles—to the Constitution, to your avowed to defend."

TRANSFER OF ALLEGIANCE.

San Francisco and Portland Steamship Company Now Offered by Oregon Short Line Men.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SALT LAKE CITY, March 18.—With Salt Lake City as its headquarters and Oregon Short Line men as its officers the San Francisco and Portland Steamship Company was incorporated in Utah today. It has held its charter from California, and the articles filed here provide that the company shall be organized as a corporation "on honor" at the Salt Lake City, Utah, office.

The capital stock of 5000 hundred-dollar shares remains the same. W. H. Branstetter, vice-president, and general manager of the Oregon Short Line, appears as president of the steamship company; George H. Smith as vice-president; E. H. Kinlock, secretary; C. H. Jenkinson, treasurer, and C. J. McNeill, auditor.

Humboldt Steamship Company Asks $50,000 From Four Concerns and Three Men Indicted in Alaska.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SEATTLE (Wash.) March 18.—Suits for $50,000 damages were begun by the Humboldt Steamship Company in the Superior Court today against four of the transportation companies and three of the men indicted by the Federal grand jury Juneau, Alaska, last month on a charge of forming a conspiracy in restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The defendants in the civil action are the Alaska Steamship Company (owned by the Morgan-Guggenheim Alaska syndicate); the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, the North Pacific Wharves and Trading Company and the Pacific and Arctic Railway and Navigation Company, and Charles E. Peabody, formerly president of the Alaska Steamship Company; G. H. Higbee of San Francisco, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company; and C. E. Wynn Johnson, formerly an officer of the Pacific and Arctic Railway and Navigation Company.

The petition specifically charges that beginning with April 1, 1909, the Pacific and Arctic Railway and Navigation Company, which controls the White Pass and Yukon Railroad, and the White Horse, Yukon Territory, has persistently refused to make through tickets of passengers by the steamer company to points on the White Pass Railroad and the Yukon River. The rate charged passengers of the Humboldt company by the White Pass and Yukon Railroad is five per cent. to thirty per cent. higher than the railroad's share of the joint rate granted the steamship companies alleged to be parties to the conspiracy.

AS MORE THAN HUMAN.

That's the Way Hunt Is Treating His Convicts, but They Don't Return the Compliment.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 18.—One of the convicts whom Gov. Hunt has refused to grant an honor not to attempt to escape, a Mexican named Chappo, disregarded his word and slipped away from the penitentiary at Florence today and up to a late hour tonight had not been captured.

Chappo was working outside the prison walls when he escaped. He would not say how he got away so easily, but he said he was helped by a guard, who, in accordance with Hunt's orders was unarmed. Chappo waited until he was permitted him to get as far away from the guard as possible without attracting undue attention then ran as hard as he could, knowing that he would not be shot.

He had a good start and soon disappeared in the brush.

Since the honor system has been used among the prisoners, the guards at the penitentiary have been reduced by the discharge of six. The honor system of Idaho, E. L. Norris of Montana and William Spry of Utah.

Bid in by Stockholders.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Approximately $200,000 was realized today by the Ocean Shore Railway Company at a sale of stock on which assessments of $100 per share had not been paid. Action had been brought by stockholders to prevent the sale, but the injunction was denied by Judge J. M. Sewell. Much of the stock was bid in by stockholders in the corporation.

An Honor Man Gives Up.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Joseph McMillan, who claimed to have taken French leave from the Oregon Penitentiary, headed by Mayor George P. Catterill, went into office today, the Mayor promising economical and progressive government in his address. All three of the elected officials held the same offices last year and of these three only one, a Councilman, held a vacancy, is a stranger to city affairs.

Political Promises.

SEATTLE, March 18.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The new city administration, headed by Mayor George P. Catterill, went into office today, the Mayor promising economical and progressive government in his address. All three of the elected officials held the same offices last year and of these three only one, a Councilman, held a vacancy, is a stranger to city affairs.

MORAL WAVE HITS MEXICO.

Ethical as Well as Political Reforms Promised.

Madero Has Ideas of His Own on the Subject.

His Said of Him that He Has No Bad Habit.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
CITY OF MEXICO, (Mex.) March 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Along with the other reforms proposed by the present administration, and the leaders of the different movements to overthrow it, is a general uplift of morals.

President Madero has pronounced ideas on the subject of what should be done towards placing the mass of citizenship on a higher plane of morality. He is a personal example of what constitutes ideal citizenship. It is said of him he has not a single "bad habit." His personal character is above reproach, and he believes in the inauguration of certain measures that will not only encourage, but enforce, sobriety and rectitude, they will, within a few years bring about changes that will be for the great benefit of the whole citizenship. That this sentiment is widespread is evidenced by the announced policy of state and local officials, not only among those who belong to the administration in power, but even to the State of Chihuahua, which government is now in the control of so-called revolutionists.

It has long been said by those who have sought to elevate the everyday standards of the people that the most injurious factors operating against them were the unrestricted and officially sanctioned vices in the shape of gambling houses and drinking establishments. Not only these, but the sale of liquor, and the use of opium, which Madero has openly opposed ever since he has given voice to what he considers the best interests of the people. There has been some adverse comment on this latter amendment because he gave his apparent sanction to the sport by attending recently, in this city, a bullfight for charitable purposes. It is known, however, by men who are close to the President, that it is his purpose to absolutely prohibit bullfighting.

President Madero abhors brutality in any form. He is a vegetarian, and that bespeaks for him, so those who belong to that cult say, a tender disposition towards all creatures, whether brute or human. But for the fact that it was a charitable exhibition, no one believes he would have attended the performance. It is said in this connection, that the President might have ever said that he was a horror stricken.

When Congress meets in April it is understood a bill will be introduced to abolish this sport.

SITUATION IN SONORA.

From Chihuahua comes the announcement that the Legislature has unanimously agreed upon the enactment of a bill prohibiting gambling in Sonora, the outlawing of games of chance in Arizona, New Mexico and Texas a few years ago, many of the professional gamblers of the South transferred their operations to Chihuahua and Sonora and open games in all the larger cities and many of the smaller towns of that portion of Mexico have been carried on with the sanction of the local authorities. Besides the Americans who are interested in this sporting pastime, many Mexicans have found it profitable to embark. Besides the proposed driving out of the gamblers in Sonora, the Legislature has taken steps to fight the liquor traffic as applied to the manufacture and sale of cheap intoxicants, such as mezcual. It is proposed to levy a high tax on mezcual plants, from which the mezcual and tequila are manufactured. The particular object of this tax is to force the mezcual planters to substitute some other kind of crop.

IN CHIHUAHUA.

From Chihuahua comes the information that the revolutionary government has decided that gambling of all kinds must be stopped. Already a decree has been issued by the provisional Governor, abolishing such gambling concessions as now exist and prohibiting local authorities from issuing others. Of all the States in Mexico, none has in the past been more notorious for its gamblers than Chihuahua. Several years ago a Turk by the name of Touche was granted an exclusive concession for the gambling privilege throughout the State. He made an enormous fortune.

Besides the anti-gambling sentiment that is strong, there is a strong prohibition movement on foot which is backed not only by many men in his official and business circles, but by the women. Already at a recent meeting of this agitation, several of the States and many of the larger cities have adopted regulations to restrict the liquor traffic and place it upon a higher plane. In this city, wonderful results have been accomplished through the enforced removal of many of the low order drinking places known as pulquerias from the central portions of town. The hours in which the sale of liquor may be conducted have been reduced and all-night places abolished. The same thing has been done in practically all the other larger cities.

It is considered a noteworthy phase of the present revolutionary movements that these reforms have the indorsement and support of the leaders of the new propagandas, as well as of Madero. It means, it is believed, there is bound to take place ultimately, if not in the very near future, a general uplift of the mass of citizenship.

A BRAVE AMERICAN.

Mortally Wounded Mexican Bandit
Bent on Killing Him and Escapes
With His Family.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
DENVER, March 18.—George P. Robinson, resident manager of the Suriana Mining and Smelting Company, Acholita, Guerrero, Mex., who on two occasions risked death at the hands of Mexican rebels to defend his employer's property, returned today to his home in Denver with his wife and 4-year-old son.

Robinson still bears a scar mark on his head, received in his last encounter with bandits, when he was taken out to be executed because of his refusal to give up 300 pesos of his employer's money. At that time Robinson mortally wounded the bandit leader and escaped after a desperate struggle.

Refinery in Evidence.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, March 18.—Several letters addressed to the late O. Havemeyer, former president of the American Sugar Refining Company, were put in evidence today at the trial of the indicted directors and officers of the company.

The letters were to support the government's contention that the "trust" obtained control of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company to suppress competition in violation of the Sherman law.

One letter purporting to have been written by George H. Frasier, director, and one of the four defendants, told of efforts to obtain information as to who was backing the Pennsylvania company long before the $1,250,000 loan by which the "trust" eventually obtained control of the plant, was made to Adolph Segal, its owner.

Another letter purporting to have been written by Segal to Havemeyer in 1902 to Gustave W. Kissel, who negotiated the $1,250,000 loan, spoke of the Philadelphia, Camden and Atlantic City financial shape, and asked if Segal was "the party who wanted you to make a loan on the bonds of his company."

Mrs. Cornwall had also believed her mother dead for thirty-one years and the meeting was brought about by the recent chance.

Cities and Towns of Los Angeles County.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

RESIGNATION NOT ACCEPTED.

Health Officer Must Retain His Position.

Taft Club Will Be Organized Friday Night.

Flower Show Will Have Remarkable Exhibits.

(Office of The Times, No. 26 S. Fair Oaks Ave.)

PASADENA, March 18.—Dr. Stanley F. Black, who tendered his resignation as City Health Officer, February 18, after having made a mistake in diagnosing a case as smallpox, will probably remain in office, after all.

Mayor Thum announced yesterday that he would not accept the resignation, which was placed in his hands as the chief executive of the city, and it is understood that Dr. Black has consented to continue in office.

The contention of the Mayor in acting thus is that when Dr. Black quarantined the house in which the supposed case of smallpox was reported to be, and ordered all children of the public schools who had not been vaccinated within the required time to remain away from the school until vaccinated, he was only acting within the provisions of the State law, and that the mistake in diagnosis was a mistake on the safe side, and not one of sufficient seriousness to result in Dr. Black's being retired from office.

WILL ORGANIZE TAFT CLUB.

A Taft Republican Club will be organized in Pasadena next Friday night. The meeting will be held at the Board of Trade rooms, and, judging from reports that have already been received by those who stand at the head of the movement, there will be a large attendance.

All Taft Republicans are invited to attend. Officers will be elected and plans made for a vigorous campaign in the city.

While it is known that Pasadena will send to the National Republican Convention one of the four delegates who are to represent Los Angeles county, it is not known as yet who will go, as the Taft delegation has not been chosen.

There are many Taft followers in Pasadena, and the club to be organized next Friday bids fair to become the largest and most active local political club of the campaign.

BEAUTIES WILL BE SEEN.

The valuable collection of flowers, plants, shrubs and trees that Henry E. Huntington has at his palatial Oak Knoll home will be exhibited at the spring show of the Pasadena Horticultural Society, which will be held at Central Park April 11, 12 and 13.

While these rare examples of tropical and semi-tropical growths have attracted much attention among Huntington's friends and those who have had the good fortune to see them, they have not been displayed at a public exhibit, and they will constitute one of the chief attractions at the coming show.

The committee on arrangements will meet at Carmelita playgrounds tomorrow night to make preliminary plans for the exhibit, which will be the most extensive that will ever have been made in the city.

TO GO BACK TO STANDS.

After having brought about the abolition of public hack stands in the city, the Board of City Commissioners is now contemplating their re-establishment.

Following an application of John Anderson, San at yesterday's session, there was a discussion upon the subject. Some of the commissioners contended that the difficulty of regulating the business of public hacks since the public stand had been done away with had been greater than it was before, and the Council will probably be asked to make such amendments to the ordinance as will permit the business of public stands in different parts of the city, with provision that carriages and automobiles remain fifty feet apart, and fifty feet distant from any corner.

SEASON IS EXTENDED.

The Hotel Green will remain open ten days longer this spring, the manager, announced yesterday that the large hotel will not close until April 23.

The extra ten days have been added, he says, not only to prolong the business of the hotel, but in an attempt to induce easterners to remain longer in Pasadena and to show them that in the spring Southern California is at her best.

A Raymond-Whitcomb party of thirty-five persons arrived in Pasadena yesterday and is registered at the Green. They will remain in the city for about a week, and then move on to San Diego. The party is made up largely of New Englanders and the stay in Pasadena will be the longest of any in California.

MAY ATTEND FUNERAL.

The funeral of Rev. E. E. Clough, pastor of the Altadena Methodist Church, who died last Wednesday night, took place yesterday. The services were held at the church at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and many were present. Rev. F. D. Mather, superintendent of the Los Angeles district of the church, officiated, Pasadena and Altadena members of the Grand Army of the Republic and members of the Lodge, F. and A. M., attended in a body.

The pallbearers were A. L. Hollander, C. W. Woods, Jason J. Sheppard, Robert Eason, Herman Eyer and Simon J. Edwards. Interment was made in Mountain View Cemetery and the Masons had charge of the services at the grave.

CITY BRIEFS.

George A. Damon, dean of the engineering department of Throop Polytechnic Institute, in an address delivered before the student body there yesterday, declared that better transportation facilities obtained between Pasadena and Los Angeles would benefit the population of this city more than any other thing.

Herman R. Havel, who is a member of the Board of City Commissioners, yesterday returned home from San Francisco.

The time set for the receipt of bids on the proposed new Colorado-street bridge across the Arroyo Seco will probably be extended to April 9.

Mrs. Ralph Arnold of No. 1409

Garfield avenue, South Pasadena, sustained a dislocated shoulder in an automobile accident near Glendora last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hinds of No. 515 Prospect Square, leave the city next Sunday for San Francisco, from where they expect soon to sail for Japan.

Minor Thum, who has been asked to appoint five delegates to the National Drainage Congress, which opens in New Orleans April 19, states that he will be pleased to name any qualified residents of the city who care to go. No allowance will be made for expenses.

C. W. Buchanan of No. 67 North Hudson avenue yesterday received word that his son-in-law, W. K. Galloway, an instructor at the State University, in Berkeley, is critically ill. He was recently operated upon.

The State of Maine Association of Pasadena was held tonight at the State University, in Berkeley, in critically ill. He was recently operated upon.

G. O. Buchanan, lead bounty commissioner for the Canadian government, was a visitor in Pasadena yesterday. He called upon Hugh A. Blackburn of No. 2100 Garfield avenue, his old friend.

Alleen Oakley, member of J. W. Jeffries' class in English at the Pasadena High School, has been awarded a prize by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union for the best essay on "The Value of Total Abstinence."

AUTOMOBILE TURNS OVER.

South Pasadena Woman Caught Under the Capstern Machine Is Severely Injured—News Briefs.

SOUTH PASADENA, March 18.—Mrs. Ralph Arnold, M. D., who resides at the residence of Frank Sikes, No. 1605 Garfield avenue, was seriously hurt last evening in an automobile accident near Glendora, both shoulder bones being broken, with severe lacerations of the scalp. She was unconscious when picked up, and was taken to the Pasadena Hospital, where she is improving. She was driving her machine alone, when it turned turtle, and she was pinned under the wreckage.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The funeral services of Henry Wickens, who died of a self-inflicted pistol shot last Friday, will occur Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the chapel of Turner & Stevens, 1417 Mission street, South Pasadena. The services will be in charge of Pasadena Lodge, No. 472, B. P. O. E. and interment will be made later at Columbus, Neb., his former residence. He leaves a widow, who resides in Los Angeles and a mother.

Confederable excitement was caused in the neighborhood of No. 1028 Magnolia street yesterday when smoke in a chimney, the residence of C. M. Handforth caught fire. Smoke filled the house and an alarm was turned in, the fire department responding, but it was not needed, as the soot merely burned itself out.

Mr. Anderson, physical director of the Young Men's Christian Association, gave a stereoscopic lecture on gymnasium work, including correct standing posture, at the regular meeting of the Memorial Men's Club of the Baptist Church, last evening. He was also accompanied by four young men from the association gymnasium classes, who gave an exhibition of gymnastic work.

Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, Mrs. C. L. Jaycox of Park street, Pasadena, was married to N. T. Vanta of this city at the home of Luther Church. Rev. Derr performing the ceremony. The bride was given in a fawn-colored traveling suit, with hat to match, and only the immediate families were present. The church was prettily decorated with iris and greenery. Following a wedding repast, the couple will reside at No. 912 Indiana street, South Pasadena.

Rooms with bath at Coronado now.

Glendora.

Dimas wash, which can be controlled locally at a comparatively light expense, is the subject of a meeting which would be in the event joint action was taken with the communities of the valley.

Speakers vigorously protesting against the injustice of the measure were delivered by Judge Charles Silen, W. B. Glidden, R. W. Hamilton of Glendora, C. J. Anderson of Covina, J. T. Lindley of Azusa, E. C. Kenyon of Lordsburg, O. S. Jewett of San Dimas and many others present. It was the expressed conviction of all speakers that 95 per cent. of the freeholders in their respective communities were against inclusion in the protection district sought to be established at the expense of the people for the benefit of the few who had settled on lands exposed to all the danger of overflow, knowing the danger, but having done so because the land could be had at relatively low prices.

The committee appointed by the chairman are as follows: Glendora, R. W. Hamilton, R. B. Bidwell and J. M. Baker; Azusa, H. B. Hierbover, Leiland Boag and John Slanson; San Dimas, Daniel Durkee, R. M. Teague; Lordsburg, V. Peyton, O. S. Jewett and C. E. Wilson; Covina, C. J. Anderson and W. M. Griswold.

Judge Charles Silen was appointed as an advisory committee. The committee was instructed to raise $1000 to meet the preliminary expenses and employ the ablest attorneys to be had. It was plainly evident from the outpouring of the delegates present that the people are very much wrought up over the thought of having their homes saddled with a heavy mortgage with little to show for it, and that they are in the fight to stay if further attempts are made to foist an unjust debt upon them.

A. Millett, who was present as a representative of the Santa Fe Railroad, stated that his company did not see that it would derive much benefit from any improvement that might be made in this part of the valley. The real danger was lower down, he said. Continuing, Mr. Millett assured the gentlemen present that his principal object was to be satisfied with any action they might take at the meeting.

SIX TOWNS VIGOROUSLY OPPOSE DRAINAGE PLAN.

GLENDORA, March 18.—Delegates from Azusa, Covina, Glendora, San Dimas, Lordsburg and Lordsburg, representing the organized opposition to the proposed storm protection districts, met at 10 o'clock today in the office rooms of the directors of the Glendora Citrus Association, Glendora. The meeting was called by the election of John Slanson of Los Angeles chairman, and F. C. Wilson of Covina, secretary.

The object of the meeting was stated by the chairman to be for the purpose of devising ways and means to defeat the project in its incipency, if possible, or fight it to the last ditch if found necessary. To that end he suggested the appointment of a committee to appear before the Board of Supervisors Monday, April 1, the date set for a hearing.

On motion of J. T. Lindley of Azusa the committee of three was appointed by the chairman from each of the communities represented. The committee was empowered to solicit funds and employ the best legal talent obtainable.

The gentlemen present were capable and successful business men, each representing communities that are among the most highly developed and among the richest in the State, and as such, always investigate with care any proposition that is presented for the good of the community. It is a good thing, they felt, to do it, if not they reject and defeat it, if possible. Having thoroughly investigated the project to establish a storm water protection district to include the San Gabriel River and its tributaries as far as it relates to the communities represented at the meeting, the people feel compelled to oppose the proposition for the reason that they think they have a right to believe that the benefits derived will in no wise compensate for the expense entailed.

This will be better understood when it is known that these communities are practically immune from damage from the flood waters of the winter season, there being nothing more formidable to contend with than small ravines outside of the Big and Little Dalton washes and the San

Long Beach.

CITY ENRAGED OVER A MURDER.

Killing of Police Officer Stirs the Department.

Big Reward Offered for Capture of Criminals.

Same Men Suspected of Various Other Crimes.

LONG BEACH, March 18.—The killing last night of Patrolman Thomas Borden, by a burglar whom he caught in his house, has stirred the city and every effort is being made to follow possible clues. The entire police force has been constantly on duty and spurred by the memory of their dead comrade, stop not for rest or food. Every member has been on duty since the tragedy.

A dozen or more suspects have been rounded up and two of these are still held. One of them is William Davies, an eighteen-year-old boy of unsavory reputation, and who is still a ward of the Juvenile Court. Young Davies lives on Stanwood avenue and the murderer was tracked this morning in that direction. The remark addressed by Borden to the burglar, as he confronted him last night, "what are you doing here," indicates that he may have recognized him, and acting on Mrs. Borden's description and declaration that the glimpse she had of the burglar through the glass door, convinced her that it was young Davies, led to his arrest this morning.

The police refuse to admit that she further identified him, except to state that he resembled the murderer, but her son says that she did identify him, saying when confronted with him, "this is the man who shot my father." Mrs. Borden is unstrung and being given sedatives lead the police to be cautious regarding her statements. She claims that she can establish an alibi.

Another suspect named Monahan, who answers in part the description given by Borden, was arrested yesterday. He was shot in the foot as he pursued the flying man, was arrested today, but he seems to be a harmless sort of a loafer, who has been hanging about the Police Department.

Both men will be held, however, pending a thorough investigation of their part in the crime.

Mayor Hatch this morning was authorized by the Council to offer a reward of $1000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the murderer, and the Police Commission will be asked to investigate the cost of a couple of bloodhounds for use in the Police Department.

SHOT WITH OWN REVOLVER.

It developed this morning that Borden was shot with his own revolver, which he had left lying in his room when he left the house with his gun to attend to the laundry this morning, following the route over which the murderer fled until he was lost, found Borden's pistol holster in a vacant lot near the laundry, and later the officer's hand-cuffs were found. They also found a safety razor and a bunch of palm keys in the room.

From the evidence it was concluded that a wild goat, which had a span of horns measuring thirty-two inches across. Early this morning Mr. Hill left on horseback for a ride to the west side of the island.

Immediately after the news was received here Louis, Jr., the oldest son of the railroad magnate, commended his plans to beat his father's record. It has been arranged to take the little fellow horse back to Middle Ranch Tuesday. Several times while practicing with the rifle, the boy has proved himself an excellent marksman. A boy believes that he will be successful in getting a goat head.

During their stay on the island Mr. and Mrs. Hill have planned some interesting trips for themselves and their children. When visiting the island, Mr. Hill, who is a landscape artist of ability, will make several local views of the island and some of them now hang in his private study at St. Louis.

Speaking of a union depot for Los Angeles last evening, Mr. Hill said: "It will be a step in the wrong direction for Los Angeles. We have known of a progressive city which had a union depot to handle all its business. Immediately after the completion of the depot, progress stops after the building has been completed. Railroad men are not building new railroads."

PRESIDENT HILL OF GREAT NORTHERN SLAYS GOAT.

Talks Freely of Railroad Situation and Declares It Is a Mistake for Los Angeles to Ask for a Union Depot—Shriners Pay a Visit to the Island.

AVAILON, March 18.—Reports come from Middle Ranch that Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railroad, shot and killed a wild goat, which had a span of horns measuring thirty-two inches across. Early this morning Mr. Hill left on horseback for a ride to the west side of the island.

Immediately after the news was received here Louis, Jr., the oldest son of the railroad magnate, commended his plans to beat his father's record. It has been arranged to take the little fellow horse back to Middle Ranch Tuesday. Several times while practicing with the rifle, the boy has proved himself an excellent marksman. A boy believes that he will be successful in getting a goat head.

During their stay on the island Mr. and Mrs. Hill have planned some interesting trips for themselves and their children. When visiting the island, Mr. Hill, who is a landscape artist of ability, will make several local views of the island and some of them now hang in his private study at St. Louis.

Speaking of a union depot for Los Angeles last evening, Mr. Hill said: "It will be a step in the wrong direction for Los Angeles. Railroad men are not building new railroads."

TO MEN EARNING TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS OR THEREABOUTS EACH YEAR

Gentlemen: There are a lot of you, thousands of you, in Los Angeles. And most of you are having a whole lot harder time to make both ends meet than many who are earning Twelve Hundred, or even less.

You are in that peculiar and difficult position between the upper and the lower strata of society, considered from a money viewpoint.

You are doing your best to break into the "upper" and stay out of the "lower." And when the first of the month comes around, you groan—that is, a great many of you do!

Why don't you forget the "Social Position" viewpoint—you and your good wife—let up on the strain—and start a Savings Account?

You will not "break in" to society or "break" anything else, except your courage and your health, by living the "Three Thousand Dollar" life at a salary of Two Thousand Dollars a year.

It cannot be done. Lots of men have tried it. And none ever succeeded—and remained honest or sane. Why don't you try to live on Fifteen Hundred Dollars a year, and actually make up your mind to do it?

Save that extra Five Hundred. Put it in this Bank, at interest, and try would causing the officer to bend in pain, was responsible for the direction of the second shot, which entered the top of the head and ranged downward, splitting in two, one half emerging under the jaw and the other penetrating the chest and lodging in the lung.

Considerable mystery revolves about the two descriptions given on one by Mrs. Borden of a young man, and the other by Rowett of a middle-aged man, which leads to the theory that they are probably the pair who slugged and nearly killed W. A. Alston at his Pike theater last week. Every roominghouse in the city is being searched in hopes of gaining some tangible clue that will lead to detecting the murderer. A sample of a Redondo avenue line reported last night that a couple of suspicious fellows boarded the car at Third and American last night and rode to 1242, where the conductor, not liking their actions, refused to allow them to return with him and the pair struck off towards town.

The tragedy of last night follows a wave of robberies and holdups prevalent the past three months and has wrought the Police Department into a nervous strain.

Last night's murder is the eighth that has occurred in the city since August. Eighteen years ago a man named Elihu was shot when he caught two burglars in his store. They were captured on circumstantial evidence and are now in the penitentiary. In 1897 a man named Meyers killed his wife and then himself in 1898. In 1906 W. T. Wilson shot and killed W. T. Belden, on the day the latter was to be examined in court on a charge of mistreating Wilson's step-daughter. Wilson was tried twice and on the second trial was acquitted under the "unwritten law" plea. In 1908 E. L. Bouman was shot down by a footpad. The police claim the deed was done by L. Cio, who fled East, but overtaken by remorse went insane on the train and is now in an asylum in New York. J. S. Kanous' decomposed body was found under a manure pile in 1910 and Sam Apodaca, an employee was convicted of manslaughter on circumstantial evidence. He is now in the city jail. John Bower was shot by his friend Richard Ward, who mistook Bower for a burglar.

roads at this present time. I do not think that the Great Northern will make any attempt to enter Los Angeles, as has been reported upon several occasions.

Mr. Hill is one of the youngest railroad presidents in the country, and his work in developing the Glacier National Park at a cost of over $100,000, has been but one of his many accomplishments. Beginning work with the Great Northern company as a clerk at $35 per month, he has gone through every branch of the huge business until he is now the head of the mammoth enterprise.

Mr. Hill shuns publicity. With a smile of welcome to friends he stepped off the gangplank yesterday. Between business and millions he has divided his time equally. Two years ago when visiting the island, he took charge of a small popcorn stand on the beach and in less than an hour had disposed of the entire stock on the wagon, turning over to the proprietor over $5 as sales for the day.
